

CHARGE MADE OF EXCEEDING LAWS

NAVY DEPARTMENT REPORTED VIOLATING THE LAW.

MADISON APPOINTMENT MADE

Other Matters Taken Up by Congress
Today of Importance to Nation.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Washington, D. C., Dec. 10.—Charges were made in the House today by Rep. Fitzgerald of New York that the navy department, without authority of the law, is in the construction of two of the newest battleships proceeding on its own initiative to plan for vessels 20 per cent greater than called for by the law authorizing their construction.

The Law.
The law, he declared, provided for vessels of 20,000 tons displacement, whereas it is proposed to construct for 27,000 ton battleships, and the six million dollars appropriated will be insufficient.

Rep. Fitzgerald's charges were made during the general debate on the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill.

Madison Postoffice.
The President today nominated William A. Devine to be postmaster at Madison, Wis. Devine was recommended by Senator La Follette and has been assistant postmaster for many years.

Gabriel H. Hollis of South Dakota was named consul general at Constantinople.

The French Claim.
By a tie vote the motion to strike the French spoliation claim from the omnibus claim bill was lost in the Senate today. Vice President Sherman's absence prevented the tie from being broken.

For Direct Vote.
The sub-committee of the senate committee on judiciary today authorized a favorable report on the resolution for a constitutional amendment for the election of senators by direct vote. Senators Borah and Rainey voted for and Senator Dillingham against the proposition. The question will be submitted to the full committee on Monday.

Demagogue Busy.
A call was issued today for a caucus of the democratic members of the next House to be held January 19th, to plan for the immediate selection of the democratic members of the next ways and means committee to be acted on with view to framing a new tariff bill.

TWO SOULS WITH BUT THE SINGLE THOUGHT

Both Bryan's and La Follette's Magazines Criticize President's Message.

[BY UNITED PRESS.]
Lincoln, Neb., Dec. 10.—"The President's annual message is noted for its length. If Mr. Taft's sympathies with the special interests had not already been made known to the people the message would be notable for its distinct leaning toward the very system the people are seeking to regulate—the system against whose encroachments upon popular government the people have but recently rendered an explicit verdict. This was the comment in part of Wm. J. Bryan on the President's message in the current issue of his Commonwealth today.

La Follette's View.
Madison, Dec. 10.—Denunciation of President Taft's message takes the lead in the current issue of Senator La Follette's magazine, out today. The Wisconsin senator says in part: "There is in the President's message scarcely the faintest echo of the clear, decisive resounding note struck by the people on November 8. Hence it leaves the public unmoved. With one hand the President extends a few crumbs to the people; with the other he passes out a bait to the system. The message is a compromise."

CLAIM THAT REPORT WAS TOO COLORED

Enemies of Administration Say Dickinson's Report Was "Hobsonized" and Not of Value.

[BY UNITED PRESS.]
Washington, Dec. 10.—"That the war department is trying to 'Hobsonize' the entire country and the effort to get the 'confidential report' of Secretary of War Dickinson before the people was only a scheme of military enthusiasts to secure larger appropriations was the comment today by Rep. James Tawney of Minnesota, on the national defense program. Tawney said Hobson's recent lecture on 'low tariff' and the secretary's report were distinctly similar."

Non-Maclean's (California) author of the famous resolution which led the war department to adopt the defense program, today in a lengthy interview with the Associated Press, declared that the 'confidential report' of Secretary of War Dickinson was not of value. He pointed out in detail the many deficiencies in the report, and declared that the report of the Secretary of War was nothing more than a scheme to procure larger appropriations.

RECESSIONS MARKED MARKET'S OPENING

[BY UNITED PRESS.]
New York, Dec. 10.—After a little irregularity at the opening of the stock market today and some recessions of the majority of the industrial and important railroad issues, the market ruled steady with trading dull.

MILLIONS WILL BE SPENT BY JAPANESE IN IMPROVING NAVY

$41,000,000 Will Be Used in Supplementing Present Naval Armament in Next Six Years.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Tokyo, Japan, Dec. 10.—The budget for next year, announced today, estimates the receipts of 540,334,000 yen, and the expenditure of 540,335,000 yen. A yen is equivalent to fifty cents in American money.

Premier Katsura estimates that during the next six years $2,000,000 yen will be spent in supplementing and improving the navy. Of this amount fifteen million is authorized for the next fiscal year.

He says that the "conspicuous innovations" adopted for Japan to somewhat increase its naval expenditure, not because of any danger arising from differences with other countries, but because the navy of Japan, while not endeavoring to compete with or surpass those of other nations, must be kept up to modern standard. He definitely states that Japan's relations with other governments are most amicable.

IMPENDING FAMINE REPORTED IN CHINA

Over Million in Northern Portion of Country May Starve to Death.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Washington, D. C., Dec. 10.—A famine impends over a million Chinese in the northern part of the province of Anhui, a section of country subject to destructive floods. The American consul at Hankow, after careful investigation of the situation, has cabled the state department that he finds it very bad.

NEW RAIDS MADE BY GOVERNMENT TODAY

More Alleged Bucket Shops Invaded by the Secret Service Men in Chicago.

Chicago, Ill., Dec. 10.—Additional raids on concerns alleged to be bucket shops were made today by secret service men. At the office of Murphy & Co., 92 La Salle street, said to be a branch of the Capital Investment Co., and run as a bucket shop, books, papers, checks and record sheets were seized and employees arrested. Arrests are expected in twenty-five or thirty towns in the middle west today or tomorrow.

MILWAUKEE ROAD HAS MADE BIG CONTRACT

Twenty Five New Mallet Construction Engines To Be Turned Out For Them.

[BY UNITED PRESS.]
Milwaukee, Wis., Dec. 10.—Contracts for just 13,852,500 pounds of motive power have just been signed by officials of the Milwaukee railroad. The order which constitutes the construction of twenty five monster Mallet articulated compound locomotives weighing 555,700 each, is said to be the largest placed by any railroad of the country in recent years. These great locomotives are each over ninety feet in length or a third of a city block. They will be built in Schenectady, N. Y.

One of the engines will be tried out thoroughly in the Milwaukee shops to ascertain to exactness what one of the monsters is capable of doing. The engines are designed for use on the Pacific coast extension of the Milwaukee road. The order was given out from the Milwaukee shops.

TARIFF MEASURE IS REPORTED COMPLETE

Closely Follows the Lines Laid Down in President Taft's Message to Congress.

[BY UNITED PRESS.]
Washington, D. C., Dec. 10.—The tariff commission bill, combining the lines embodied in the various bills on the same subject, introduced in the house and senate in the past, is reported to be ready for presentation to the committee on ways and means of the house.

Representative Lawrence of Wisconsin and Gov. of Iowa with J. C. Cobb, president of the National Tariff Commission, framed the measure.

The bill closely follows the lines suggested by President Taft in his message.

NOTED WISCONSIN DOCTOR IS DEAD

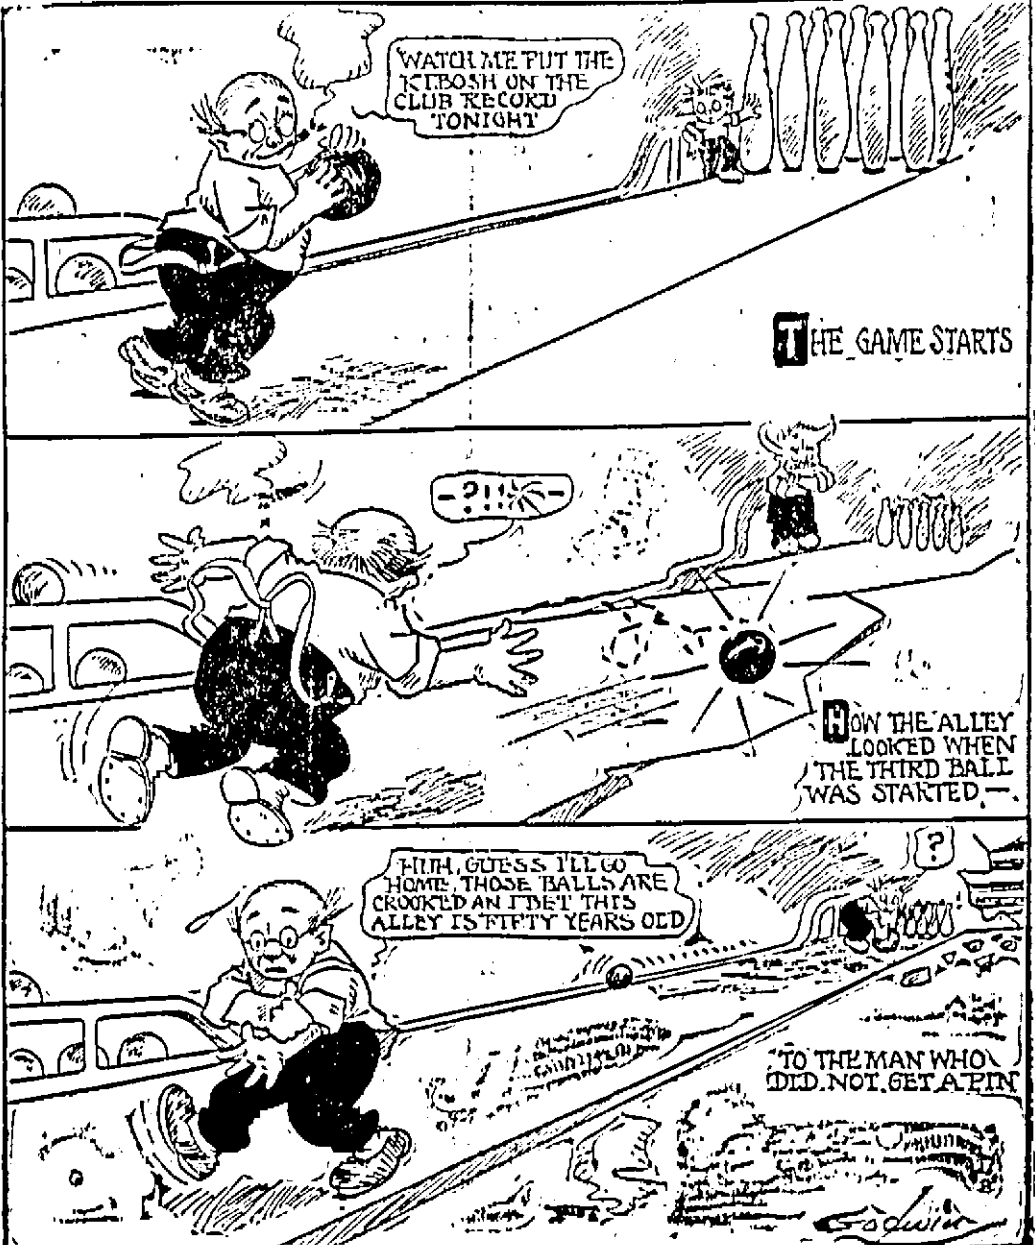

Word Has Been Received Announcing the Death of Dr. L. C. Lambert at Chattanooga, Tenn.

[BY UNITED PRESS.]
La Crosse, Dec. 10.—A message today announces the death at Chattanooga, Tenn., of Dr. L. C. Lambert, aged fifty-four, formerly one of the leading physicians of western Wisconsin.

Dr. Lambert went south two years ago for his health but recently contracted pneumonia which caused his death.

LINER LADEN WITH CHRISTMAS MAIL

Hold Of the "Philadelphia" Sailing Today For Cherbourg, Was Literally Packed With It.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
New York, Dec. 10.—With her spacious hold literally packed with Christmas mail, the American liner Philadelphia sailed this morning for Plymouth, Cherbourg, and Southampton. Tomorrow the Commander Maclean will elope port with the last of the mail that will reach Europe in time for delivery before Christmas day. Though the total figures are not yet obtainable, the officials of the local postoffice are of the opinion that the number of money orders and other presents sent from this side to relatives and friends in Europe is larger this year than ever before. The bulk of the money orders have been issued for Great Britain and Ireland, Germany and Italy.

NATIONAL LEADER MAY SETTLE STRIKE

[BY UNITED PRESS.]
Chicago, Dec. 10.—Planning that only through the mediation of some national figure, can the garment workers war here be settled, union leaders today considering asking President Taft, Col. Roosevelt or John Mitchell to take a hand. The matter will be decided upon at a mass meeting next week at which Samuel Gompers will be present.

BATTLES PENDING BETWEEN FEDERALS AND INSURGENTS

Mexican Revolutionists Are Sending Re-Enforcements To Strongholds in Vicinity Of Chihuahua.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Chihuahua, Mexico, Dec. 10.—Sent out the fourteenth but delayed in transit. A special train was made up here this afternoon for the transportation of 100 soldiers to a point not positively known.

The advances from Federalists tonight state that detachments of revolutionists continue to arrive in the vicinity of Caro Prieto and the ranch. San Juan is making good the insurrection house that when the federal attack took place, it will be against 1,000 men.

Gen. Navarro commanding the federal troops, expects the next engagement will be more serious than that of last Sunday.

Gen. Hernandez today denied the story that Gen. Navarro had executed thirty alleged anti-revolutionists after last Sunday's battle. The story was told, however, not only among revolutionists but in Gen. Navarro's own camp.

There was no fighting today although the revolutionists predicted an early attack by the federalists.

TWO MEN ARRESTED ON CHARGE OF THEFT

Were Taken at Racine on Charge of Taking Horse and Buggy to Which They Pleaded Guilty.

[BY UNITED PRESS.]
Racine, Wis., Dec. 10.—Fred Dahlman, aged 25, of South Milwaukee, and Thomas Baker, aged 19, of Montreal, were arrested here today as they drove into the city with a horse and buggy stolen last night at Waukegan and offered to sell the outfit at a local livery stable for $100. The men were knowledgeable their guilt. They were taken back to Waukegan for trial.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Boston, Mass., Dec. 10.—In Boston and vicinity patriotic and historical societies held meetings today in observance of the 137th anniversary of the "Boston Tea Party" when, as a protest against the action of Great Britain in levying taxes on the colonies, a party of citizens discarded themselves as Indians and threw overboard a cargo of tea rather than pay the taxes necessary to land it.

HOOSIERS HOLDING PECAN EXHIBITION

Second Annual Show Substantiates Indiana's Claim Of Being Banner Nut-Growing State.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Mt. Vernon, Ind., Dec. 10.—Indiana's claim to being one of the banner states in the raising of pecans was well supported by extensive and high-class exhibits shown here today at the second annual state pecan show. A leading feature of the exhibition was the collection of native pecans which represented Indiana at the recent convention of the National Nut Growers Association at Monticello, Fla.

GEORGIA NEGRO TO HANG FOR MURDER

Like Rushing Will Die Upon the Gallows At Clinton Today For Killing An Officer.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Macon, Ga., Dec. 10.—The first legal execution in Jones county in many years takes place today at Clinton, where like Rushing, a negro, is to die on the gallows for the murder of Sheriff Bass in Haddock's a year ago last April. The killing occurred when the law officers attempted to arrest the negro.

RACINE FIRM WILL BUILD AEROPLANES

Case Company Plans for Test of Its Machine, by Journey From New York to San Francisco.

[BY UNITED PRESS.]
Racine, Wis., Dec. 10.—At a banquet tendered the delegates to the gas engine maker's convention at the Racine Country club yesterday, Treasurer Leo Norton of the J. I. Case Threshing Machine company made the startling announcement that Louis Strang, the former noted auto racer, would fly from New York to San Francisco in seven days, next spring in an improved aeroplane in his Case factory.

The machine, it is said, will be constructed that Strang will have little difficulty in negotiating the average 178 miles per day in completing the three thousand mile trip. It will be more substantially constructed than the machines now in use and heavier, thus being more able to combat the adverse weather conditions formerly seriously hampering long flights.

Murdock Land Co. Articles of organization of the Murdock Land Co., capital $100,000, have been filed with the register of deeds. The corporation are William Smith, Louis Avery, and Leora Westlake.

BELOIT PROFESSOR CAUGHT IN ROLE OF "PEEPING TOM"

Wherefore Prof. Frank H. Chase, Head of Beloit College English Department, Will Withdraw from Faculty.

[BY UNITED PRESS.]
Beloit, Dec. 10.—President E. D. Eaton of Beloit college this afternoon announced that Prof. Frank H. Chase, head of the English department and prominent in social and church circles, had separated himself from all connection with the college and would go away for recuperation. His future relations with the college will be determined at a meeting of the trustees.

The announcement follows sensational developments of the past day. It was learned that Prof. Chase was caught Wednesday in the role of a "Peeping Tom." He was discovered in the rear of the home of Mrs. Eva McIntosh, a wealthy widow living near the campus, peering into her windows.

By pretending to be about to retire, Mrs. McIntosh kept the man at the window. It is said, while her daughter telephoned for the police. Two officers seized the man and were dumfounded to learn his identity.

Prof. Chase was valedictorian of his class at Yale and later, while a graduate student there, underwent a similar experience to that which has just occurred. He was believed at that time to be suffering a slight mental aberration and a physician who examined him today believes the present trouble is a recurrence.

The professor has been considered one of the strongest men on the Beloit faculty and has enjoyed nothing but the highest regard since coming here several years ago.

INSURANCE BILL IS REPORTED COMPLETE

Committee On Industrial Insurance Has Completed Its Work On Proposed Measure.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., Dec. 10.—The final conclusion of the legislative committee on industrial insurance regarding the uniform system of compensation for industrial accidents will be reached December 29th, when the committee holds its final meeting. It is probable the report will be unanimous. The committee decided today to ask the assistance of Herman L. Ekern and W. A. Fricke in drafting sections relating to mutual insurance companies to indemnify the employers against the new liabilities for personal injuries. "The committee feels certain that the final bill will be an economically and legally sound," said Senator A. W. Sanborn of Ashland, chairman of the committee. "This fact is largely due to the cordial cooperation given by manufacturers and labor representatives."

After reciting a chapter of hardships and privations that will probably move to pity many an adverse critic, Cook says: "When I recall the many halfbrother escapes from death, the hazards we took, and feel again that physical and mental suffering, I wonder whether any living man would do this were he promulgating a lie." "If I did believe in myself, honestly and sincerely, if I felt convinced of my claim, when I reached Copenhagen and later New York" the explorer says, "it is just to call me the world's most intrepid fakir, a common delirious swindler." Unconsciously I may have made statements which I myself now question. That is inexcusable. But most emphatically and positively, I am not a thief; most certainly there was no plan to hoax the world to my own financial profit.

DIETZ FAMILY CASE BEING HEARD TODAY

Five Members of the Family Are Having Their Hearing Before Judge Jordan Today.

[BY UNITED PRESS.]
Hayward, Wis., Dec. 10.—Judge John Jordan is today hearing the cases of John Dietz, Mrs. Dietz, Myra and Clarence and Leslie, on the charge of shooting Deputy Sheriff John Roelich in 1904. It is expected that John Dietz, Clarence and Leslie will be bound over on this charge. The result of this hearing may prevent Myra and Clarence from attending the proposed benefit in Minneapolis on Sunday. Angered by interviews given out by John Dietz, in which he has intimated that he is dissatisfied with his counsel, Attorney Rubin of Milwaukee is declared today to have forbidden the dam defender to talk to newspaper men without his being present.

John Dietz and his family were held over to court today on the charge of assault with intent to kill certain persons July 25th, 1906. The court will probably fix the bail at $50,000 for John Dietz, $10,000 for Leslie, $10,000 each for Myra, Mrs. Dietz, and Clarence.

ASK GOVERNOR TO LIGHTEN SENTENCE

Attorneys for Albert Schissler, on Prison Term for Murder, Plead Before Gov. Davidson.

[BY UNITED PRESS.]
Madison, Dec. 10.—Gov. Davidson today heard a plea by attorneys for Albert Schissler of Milwaukee sentenced to state prison eight years ago, for the killing of Frederick Kaul, a bank clerk at Watertown, over a 25 year term. The attorneys argued to the governor that the sentence was excessive; that the jury which sentenced Schissler was prejudiced; that Schissler is fast falling in health and his daughter, Gladys, who is now 14 years of age, needs his care. The governor took the plea, under consideration and the attorneys expressed themselves hopeful he will take action before his term of office expires.

MADISON IS MAKING PHENOMENAL SALE

Of Red Cross Christmas Seals—Over 250,000 Stamps Have Already Been Sold.

[BY UNITED PRESS.]
Madison, Dec. 10.—Madison is making a phenomenal sale of Red Cross Christmas seals. An additional order for 25,000 received by the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis association, makes a total of 250,000 for the Capital City, or a per capita sale of ten seals. Other cities throughout the state are making record-breaking sales.

COOK TELLS OF THE POLE HUNT

ARCTIC EXPLORER WRITES OF ATTEMPT TO FIND EARTH'S AXIS.

DESCRIBES ALL MINUTELY

[BY UNITED PRESS.]
New York, Dec. 10.—"No one should discredit me until he knows what I endured the two and a half years of Arctic experience—until he lingers with me, freezes with me, shudders with me in the spectacular Arctic night and grows mad with me in the glaring, burning, long and cranking Arctic day. Not until then can he understand my mental condition at the time, and appreciate how I feel now and what I believe to be true."

In these words does Dr. Frederick A. Cook, in the first installment of his "own story" in the January number of the National Geographic Magazine, lay the groundwork for his defense of his North Pole discovery claim, which he now admits may be without merit, but of his honesty in believing that he accomplished this marvelous feat.

All through the story Cook refers to the terrible physical and mental strain he underwent and to the possibility, if not probability, that the hardships he endured affected his mind so that he was in no condition to make scientifically correct observations as to his movements.

He explains how he "killed in bad" at the outset in these words: "Returning from a life, savage in its drain on body and mind, I was tossed to the zenith of worldly honor on a wave of enthusiasm; a world-madness which started me. In the ebbs of that wave I was plunged into the depths of suspicion and discredit; a victim of my own folly and the suffering from a storm of adverse circumstances."

After reciting a chapter of hardships and privations that will probably move to pity many an adverse critic, Cook says: "When I recall the many halfbrother escapes from death, the hazards we took, and feel again that physical and mental suffering, I wonder whether any living man would do this were he promulgating a lie." "If I did believe in myself, honestly and sincerely, if I felt convinced of my claim, when I reached Copenhagen and later New York" the explorer says, "it is just to call me the world's most intrepid fakir, a common delirious swindler." Unconsciously I may have made statements which I myself now question. That is inexcusable. But most emphatically and positively, I am not a thief; most certainly there was no plan to hoax the world to my own financial profit.

ACTION AGAINST BEN MARKSMAN WAS DISMISSED

In Municipal Court This Morning—Geo. Baker Punished for Theft of 25 Cents Worth of Coal.

In response to public sentiment and the private convictions of officials that carolers were a greater factor in the case than criminal intent and that the defendant, through public exposure and the loss of his position, had suffered enough, the action against Ben Marksmen, charged with the larceny of a number of pieces from the Parker Pen company, was this morning dismissed by Judge Elford on motion of District Attorney J. L. Fisher, with the understanding that the defense pay costs amounting to $3.45. Attorney John Cunningham made a stirring plea for Marksmen, detailing all the circumstances—the good reputation which the young man had always, heretofore, borne; the custom of employees carrying pens to and from the factory in their pockets; the fact that a most thoroughgoing investigation by the police and the company had failed to bring anything to light which would connect Marksmen with the extensive robbery at the plant; the suffering which public exposure and the loss of his position had already brought to the defendant and his family and which might not be ended for years to come; the fact that all of the pens had been returned and neither the police, the district attorney, nor the Pen company were anxious to have the case carried any further. District Attorney J. L. Fisher spoke in the same vein and read a letter from Mr. Parker stating that he was satisfied that there was no conscious criminal intent and was sure that Marksmen had learned a lasting lesson. Judge Elford said that the whole trend of the best thought on criminal law was to bring about the reformation of the offender—to do what could be done to make him a good citizen again as well as to punish and make the punishment a warning to others. So far as had been ascertained, Marksmen had not profited by the pens nor taken them with a strictly criminal intent, though in taking them he had committed petit larceny from time to time. The punishment had probably gone as far as it should for that grade of crime. If the young man's name had been tarnished, there was a hope of restoring it and with that idea in mind and the further one, that the interests of society at large had been subserved, he would grant the motion to dismiss. Attorney Cunningham thanked the court and officials and so did the family who were with Marksmen in the court room.

Coal Thief Punished.

William Brown, who, at the request of the C. M. & St. P. Ry. company was named by the common council as a special police officer without pay, and who has been put on the trail of parties stealing coal from the company, made his first "catch" last evening. George Baker, who rooms at P. J. McKelvey's home, pleaded guilty in municipal court this morning to the larceny of 100 pounds of soft coal worth 25 cents and being unable to pay a fine and costs amounting to $31, went to jail for 13 days. He said that he needed the coal for a stove in his room.

Guilty of Drunkenness.

Joe Howard pleaded guilty to a charge of drunkenness and being unable to pay a fine and costs amounting to $1, went to jail for seven days. His right eye was badly "blackened" when Dixon, who, while intoxicated, created a disturbance at his home on Jackson street, was committed to jail for five days.

Jury Drawn.

District Attorney Fisher and Attorney Nolan drew a jury for the case of the state vs. Ramus Anderson, charged with selling milk below test, and the trial will take place tomorrow.

ABNER RANDALL CARRYING REVOLVER IN MILWAUKEE

Former Western Union Messenger—Boy Got into Trouble While Masquerading Under Assumed Name.

Abner Randall, age about sixteen, and until recently a messenger boy in the employ of the local office of the Western Union Telegraph company, applied for food and shelter at the Children's Home in Milwaukee, and the discovery of a revolver, a bank-book, and a card from the Janesville public library on his person led the police department to communicate by telephone last evening with the authorities here. He had given an assumed name and claimed to have been working in a Milwaukee confectionery store. Young Randall's record here was not good. He was under suspicion of collecting various amounts on prepaid messages when the Western Union discharged him and left here owing Mrs. Conroy at 101 Elm street a $12 board bill. Before coming to Janesville he lived at Gray's Lake. The Milwaukee police will probably keep an eye upon him if he is not punished for carrying concealed weapons.

David Conger Very Low: David Conger is reported to be in a very critical condition at his home on North Terrace street.

Col. Britton No Better: Col. W. B. Britton, who has been furthered to a wheeled chair in his home on North Washington street for six years past, has been in bed for a week and there is little hope that he will ever get up again.

Runaway Stopped: The Freedman horse ran away early this afternoon, starting from the wholesale grocery. It was stopped on Milwaukee street by Mr. Zanke.

The Philomathian Club will meet with Mrs. C. V. Korch, 125 Jefferson Avenue, Saturday, December 17, 1910.

Wise Direction of Life.

An hour every day withdrawn from frivolous pursuits would, if properly employed, enable a person of ordinary capacity, to go far toward mastering a science.—Samuel Smiles.

Uncle Walt

THE POET PHILOSOPHER
By WALT MASON.
(Copyright, 1909, by George Matthew Adams.)

I've made a million bad mistakes,
I've made a million foolish breaks,
In this wide world of wonders, and I expect to make some more before I reach that happy shore
EADEN where no one ever "blows breaks," and I shall not apologize, or squint the briny from my eyes, or make long explanations; the breaks I made in other days are made—those ghosts I shall not raise, to swell men's tribulations.
Of all the useless things men do, the blameless is to stand and view the past grief and wailing; the future, like a sunlit sea, is waiting still for you and me, so let us both go sailing.
The future, like a minstrel gay, is singing of a pleasant way, of scenes and days beguiling; the future, like a star-eyed maid (mixed metaphors, I am afraid) is beckoning and smiling.
The man who marks the future's curves, and frets about the past, deserves the kicks that he'll be given;
he likes to make a friend of woe, and so, wherever he may go, by woe he will be driven.

Man 80, Woman 72, Elope.
A man 80 years of age and a woman of 72 eloped from a home for old people at Dornbirn, a little town near Bregenz, because they were refused permission to marry. A week after they returned to the establishment stating that they had been married and had spent all their money in having a good time.

Hindoo Idea of Reverence.
In India the printed book is regarded as vulgar, if not irreverent, and no devout Hindoo would allow his sacred writings to be contaminated by contact with leather prepared from the hide of some animal's dead body. A leather-bound copy of the Bible is for him a remarkable illustration of Christian irreverence.—The Churchman.

A THRIFTY PEOPLE.

Recent statistics show that there was in force January 1st, 1910, 28,087, 327 life insurance policies, pledged to provide for beneficiaries the vast sum of $15,480,721,000. This means that more than half the men in the United States are providing for their families, by investing money year after year in insurance. It is an evidence of thrift and economy creditable to the highest civilization, for every last investor is a capitalist and belongs to the capitalist class so much berated by the socialists.

The assets held in reserve by the companies, to protect this army of thoughtful investors, on July 1st, 1910, was $3,043,852,000. Thirty per cent of this vast sum of money is invested in real estate mortgages, 12 per cent in premium notes and policy loans, and 43 per cent, or nearly half, in stocks and bonds in which the railroads are largely represented.

Of these latter investments much concern exists on the part of the companies because of persistent and strenuous legislation which effects earning power and weakens securities.

George Laurence Laughton, Ph. D., Chicago University, said in a recent address:

"The people's investments are bound up with the success of our railways and corporations. The axe that is laid at the root of these widely-extended industries shakes the limbs of the funds stored up for future emergencies. They are no safer than the productive industries of the country, from which all income is derived. Perhaps it may not be amiss, during the dinner raised by the shipper and the consumer in the railway and the corporation fights, to hold a brief for the people who have been prudent and frugal enough to lay by an honest penny for the future.

"The assumption by the state of the control of all the capital in the country, would mean the disappearance of interest as a means of income, and the entire abolition of the investments by which old age and misfortune are provided for. The attack on capital is an attack on self-control, thrift, and foresight—the virtues most essential to a sound community life. The safe investment of savings in securities for future use carries with it the decision in favor of an organization of society which will allow industrial freedom, equal rights, and a fair field to all the necessary factors of production—whether labor, or capital, or managerial capacity.

"The ability of the railways to pay a legitimate dividend on capital is as essential to the maintenance of transportation of persons and goods—one of the most necessary services required by society—as is the payment of wages to their employees. At the bottom of a just policy toward railways is the right to the same treatment that is accorded to other industries, such as agriculture, mining, or manufacturing—except so far as it is necessary to take into account their quasi-public character. As quasi-public corporations, railways must submit to that kind of supervision by the public which will ensure equality of service and the same rates to all. But beyond that, the railway should not be singled out for crippling and special attacks any more than an iron furnace or a shoe factory. Yet because of the psychological conditions above described, the ambitious politician wins votes by 'baiting' the railways and large industrial organizations."

It is not difficult to understand that small investors whose savings are in the hands of life insurance companies are interested in the stability of securities, and while these men would not willingly do anything to weaken those securities, many of them unconsciously contribute to that end by lending support to designing leaders who pose as reformers.

The interests of the American people are intertwined, that they are mutual, and the "special interests" so much discussed, are so closely allied to common welfare that they take on the significance of common interests.

Mrs. L. C. Rawson, vice president of the Des Moines Life Insurance company, urges women to enter the field of solicitors, and tells of the successful work being done by more than 500 agents of this class. Old line life insurance is about to come into its own, as fraternal organizations have had their day, to large extent, and are no longer popular.

SMITHS-PHARMACY.

ACTION GROWING OUT OF BLISS DIVORCE CASE

In circuit court this afternoon Judge Grimm heard arguments on a motion to quiet title and also on a motion to punish the plaintiff in the Lizzle Bliss vs. Horatio F. Bliss action for contempt in disobeying the order of the court to give the defendant an opportunity to see the children once a week and to have the custody of the children changed from the plaintiff to the defendant. Judge Grimm gave the parties, who now reside in West Allis, further time to file additional affidavits and ordered that the two children be brought before the court for examination.

Give Furniture For Its Lifetime Usefulness

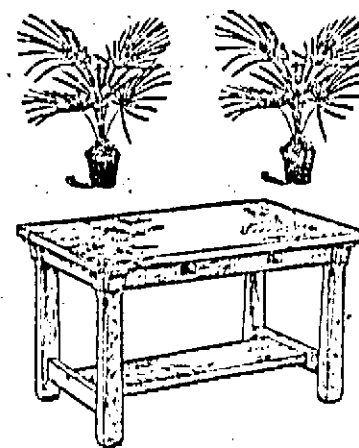

The Christmas gift of furniture (a single piece will serve) bears within itself a Yule-tide spirit that will never die. Equal and lasting satisfaction is assured to the one who gives and to the one who receives. And because it will probably be the least expected of remembrances the recipient's surprise and pleasure will be greater on that day of days. Our holiday showing presents a thousand and one excellent suggestions to those who are undecided what to give or where to go to pay the least. Never has the craftsman's fertile brain worked so cleverly in evolving ideas which, while highly practical, are ornamental withal—your surprise will grow as you wander through our three broad floors of Christmas stocks. If undecided what to give this store will help you amazingly.

A Few Practical Suggestions For the Home

Dainty Laces

Carefully Cleaned

Ordinarily, people fear to send their soiled laces to cleaners. So rare and beautiful laces remain unused and unenjoyed. One can hardly blame them for not wanting to send them to some cleaners.

We base these facts on what our customers have told us. So we set to work to perfect a method to skillfully clean lace. And we succeeded. We ask you to find out for yourself by giving us a trial order.

HIGH SCHOOL TEAM READY FOR GAMES

Basketball Practice During the Past Two Weeks Has Developed Some Good Players.

Prospects are good this year for a winning basketball team at the high school. In spite of the loss of Murphy, last season's star, a strong aggregation will be turned out according to the coach, Prof. T. M. Knudson. The candidates have been practicing hard during the past two weeks and the places on the team are about determined. Three players of last year formed a nucleus to work with and these are virtually sure of their positions. They are Koch and Korst as forwards, and Captain Hemming at center. Brown has shown up well in practice at the right guard position and he will undoubtedly fill that place in the majority of games. The man for left guard is still undecided. There are several likely candidates, among them Keller, Mott and Paltor.

Last Wednesday the first practice game of the year was played against the Southern Wisconsin business college resulting in the latter's defeat by a large score. A good many men have turned out to play on the second team at the high school and they will always be on hand to give the regulars a close battle. It is planned to work out a schedule for the second team about the first of the year.

The first regular game will be with the alumni on the evening of Jan. 3, and the big game of the season with Milton college is the next on the heavy schedule.

WOODMEN OF WORLD PLANNING BIG TIME

One Hundred and Fifty Candidates from Janesville and Nearby Towns Will Be Taken Into Lodge.

The Woodmen of the World are planning for a big time in this city tomorrow night. A large class, numbering about one hundred and fifty candidates from Broadhead, Port Atkinson, Evansville, Holcott and Janesville, will be initiated. The initiation work takes place in West Side Odd Fellows Hall.

LOCAL STORE MAKES UNIQUE OFFERING.

One Hour Special Shoe Sale Should Cause Early Shopping and Generous Buying.

Shopping in the morning is a vital need right now, but in many cases the advisability of shopping early is overlooked and at the last minute the rush of business becomes so great that the salesforce are unable to take care of it properly.

To offset this rush and cause an early buying we have arranged a special one-hour sale in our shoe department, between the hours of 8:00 and 9:00 o'clock, when a discount of $1.00 will be allowed on each pair of shoes purchased at from $2.50 to $5.00. For instance $5.00 shoes will be $4.00; $4.50 shoes at $3.50; $3.00 shoes at $2.00 and $2.50 shoes at $1.50. Amos Roberg & Co.

OSCAR ROWE BURIED IN EDGERTON TODAY

Funeral Services Held at Home on Fifth Avenue at One O'clock. Many Prominent People Attending.

Impressive funeral services for the late Oscar D. Rowe were held at one o'clock this afternoon from the family residence at 305 Fifth avenue. The bereaved relatives and friends of the family who came to pay their last tributes of love and respect to the memory of the deceased filled the home. Members of the Old Folks and Western Star, F. & A. M. lodge attended the services in a body. The casket was heaped with handsome floral emblems, tokens of esteem. The services at the home were conducted by Dr. David Benton, after which the remains were shipped to Edgerton at 2:40 o'clock and services in charge of the Masonic lodge were held at the grave. Interment was made in the family lot at Edgerton. The pallbearers were: George H. Barker, Bert Gage, E. P. Carpenter, and C. H. Walrick of this city, and Wallace Bentley and Theodore Perry of Edgerton.

Friends from out of town were: George H. Peck and Mrs. Mary Merriok of Chicago; Mrs. Clara Buzzell, Mr. Rowe's sister, and Mrs. Emily Washburn of Bentley; and Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Bentley of Edgerton.

John P. Cullen. Funeral services for John Patrick Cullen occurred this morning at nine o'clock from St. Patrick's church. The services were conducted by Fr. James J. McGinnity in the presence of a large family circle and many friends. Floral offerings were numerous and of handsome designs. The pallbearers: John P. Cullen, James Smith, George Kelley, Thomas Cullen, Henry Cullen and John Mooney. Interment was made in Mt. Olivet cemetery.

William Cox. The funeral of William Cox was held at nine o'clock this morning from St. Mary's church, Fr. Wm. A. Goebel officiating. Many friends and relatives were present at the services. The casket was covered with beautiful flowers. Edward Thorn, John Thorn, Will Thorn, John Riley, Charles Connell, and Edward Jorg were the pallbearers. The remains were laid at rest in Mt. Olivet cemetery.

Mrs. Fred Hessemauer. Private funeral services for Mrs. Fred Hessemauer will be held from the home, 1402 Mineral Point avenue, Saturday morning at ten o'clock.

Michael Conway. The funeral of the late Michael Conway of Loven will take place tomorrow morning at 10:30 o'clock from St. Mary's Church in this city.

George Gantz. George Gantz, aged thirty-four, died early this afternoon at the home of his parents in the town of Janesville. Mr. Gantz had been ill for some four months past. He leaves a son, Herman, aged twelve, and a daughter, Irene, aged eight, also five sisters, Mrs. Hensley of Sparta, Wis.; the Misses Freda, Lena, Minnie and Martha, and two brothers, Frank and Gustave, all of the town of Janesville.

SANTA'S MAIL BAG GOES AT MIDNIGHT

Will Be Wafted to the North Pole Where Old Saint Will Read What His Friends Want.

Nearly filled with letters from his little friends who read the Gazette, old Saint Nicholas' mail bag will disappear tonight and make its wondrous journey to the home of Santa at the North Pole. His little friends all over southern Wisconsin where the Gazette goes have written him what they want for Christmas and for the most part the letters were all plainly written and neat and well spelled, making well for the little people whose faith in Santa is unbounded. Today is the last day for the letters to be received.

"JACK FAT and JIM SLIM"

One of Vitagraph's best. Everybody wants to get it on this and stay with it to the finish. Jack is an "all round" sport and Jim is "way up" in the game. They go to Coney Island and maybe they don't do a thing when it comes to merrymaking. See this and get "the smile that won't come off." Try this big laugh maker. It's a regular grouch knockout and a mirth promoter.

'The Maid of Niagara'

A stupendous Indian production. This picture is based upon the ancient legend of Niagara Falls and the annual sacrifice by the Iroquois. One of the most beautiful maidens to appease the Spirit of the Cataract. Nothing more awe inspiring has ever been seen upon the screen than the sight of the Indian maiden in her canoe plunging over the Falls.

WILL TAKE UP THE FIGHT IN PULPITS

Sunday Designated "Tuberculosis Sunday" and All Denominations Will Join in Crusade.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Milwaukee, Wis., Dec. 10.—Next Sunday, Dec. 18, has been designated as "Tuberculosis Sunday" in Wisconsin churches and all denominations will join in services to further the crusade against consumption. Pastors in many churches will devote their entire sermons to the subject of consumption and urge the purchase of Christmas seals as the best means of helping to finance the battle. The churches have taken unusual interest in the crusade against tuberculosis, recognizing it to be the concern of everyone and demanding the interest of all. So far as the campaign for funds is concerned the parable of the widow's mite is especially applicable. The sale of Christmas seals at a penny each not alone is an admirable method of raising funds by giving at least full value for every cent contributed, but it gives the poorest an opportunity to share the burden and establish an actual proprietorship in the great movement to each one who spends a cent.

One of the features of this year's campaign is the work being done at Racine, Wis. Mayor A. J. Horlick, a wealthy manufacturer, is acting as campaign manager and is personally leading the forces. The result has been that Racine's sale is not only much larger than last year, but the Belle City has a good chance to win one or more of the numerous prizes offered by the state anti-tuberculosis society for highest per capita sale. Only a little more than a week remains before the close of the campaign on Christmas day. In many cities the people are just beginning to realize that the seal campaign is a civic proposition and that it is well worth while to get out and work for prizes. The cities that won prizes in 1909 are working harder than ever, the best proof of appreciation. "If no one asks you to buy a seal, ask someone to sell you some."

To Induce Sleep.

Sleeplessness is the greatest menace that tired or overwrought nerves have for beauty and health. Sleep may be induced by warm milk sipped slowly, or, if this is ineffective, by long drafts of cool water and a cold bandage around the brow.

EXTRA SPECIAL!

Tremendous Shoe Values Tomorrow Morning Between 8:00 and 9:00 O'clock

Holiday shopping with its attendant rush makes it at times impossible to wait on all the customers, in our shoe department. To make for early morning shopping and to lessen the rush in the afternoon, we offer this great special tomorrow:

ONE HOUR SALE

Between 8:00 and 9:00 o'clock tomorrow morning we shall sell any shoe in our great shoe department, regular values from $2.50 to $5.00, for $1.00 less than the regular marked prices. These prices will be in effect for the one hour only.

$5.00 Shoes	$4.00	$3.50 Shoes	$2.50
$4.00 Shoes	$3.00	$3.00 Shoes	$2.00
$2.50 Shoes	$1.50

Usual prices are in effect the balance of day. This offer is good only for stated time.

SHOES FOR MEN

You ought to demand the same individuality and character in shoes as in your suits. Shoe comfort is largely a matter of perfect fit, but not entirely so. It takes good leather, good linings and good workmanship, as well as a good fit to give foot comfort. All three are combined in Kneeland and Bostonian styles for men. The new lasts have been aptly called: Mutt, Tabasco and Cobb, and embodying the swinging effect as well as the popular high knob toes. Kneelands and Bostonians, $3.50 and $4.00.

Autocrat lasts, a popular high heeled last for the young men—and a new Monoplane last, just received in time for the holidays; button or blucher, on sale first time tomorrow, $3.50.

Rehberg's special, a new creation, high knob toes, high heels in gun metal or blucher, short vamp, special Saturday $3.00.

Boys' 12-inch high cut, in Moose hide leather either black or brown, Saturday, extra special boys, $2.75; Youths $2.45; Little Gents $2.25.

Men's Slippers, 48c, 75c, 95c, $1.25 and $1.40, excellent values.

Dr. Cook says that he has been accused of being a colossal liar and yet that many lies have been told on him. He cites the gun drop story as a sample. He says he took no gun drops with him and never heard the story until he got to New York. Cook says that the trip was not undertaken for scientific attainment. "It was a personal conquest, in which I expected only the return due a pathfinder."

Continuing, Dr. Cook says: "I shall not give in this story my scientific observations. They have been published and scientific authorities have rejected them as inadequate. It may seem a curious thing, as so much is made of figures—which can be manufactured by the team—for me to say that figures of instrumental observations are only self-convincing. But I am telling the truth, as I see it frankly."

"My conviction that I reached the Pole never was based solely upon observations, figures or mathematical calculations. I did take these, of course. Sometimes I took them hastily, again working them out with most painstaking accuracy. Sometimes my mind was clear as crystal, again I was laced with hunger, thirst and cold. These figures did not convince me of my achievement. They only corroborated my inner conviction of progress."

"Was my inner conviction that I reached the Pole insane? Perhaps. Which raises the whole problem of the border-line of sanity. I was, I feel, no more insane than any man who frantically pursues an ideal—an ideal which may seem half-brained to the practical man—and who finally to himself, if no other, is satisfied that he has accomplished his desire. My conviction may be beyond the bounds of reason. Sometimes now I feel that it is. Again I do not. I do not know. Moreover, and especially since I have viewed men from a peculiarly suspicious, though unenviable angle of late, I have been impressed with the instability, the illogicality of all human reason."

As an illustration of the peculiar effect the Far North has on one, Dr. Cook says that after leaving Helberg Land, the "fantastic unrealities of the North began to manifest themselves. Peaks of snow were transformed into volcanoes; belching smoke out of pearly mist rose mirvirescent cities, with fairy castles, huge craters, mis-shapen and grotesque, without along the horizon. These spectral denizens of the North accompanied us during the entire journey and when fagged of brain and snarped of bodily strength, I felt my mind swimming in a sea of half-consciousness; they filled me almost with horror, impressing me as the monsters one sees in a nightmare."

Cook explains his mental condition partially by his inability to sleep. "Any one who has suffered from insomnia," he says, "may be able in a small degree to gauge my condition when sleep became impossible."

To reach the end of my journey he counted the hunting, over present, brooding thought of my wretched existence."

"I never expected that my accomplishment of the Pole, if I did it, would be regarded as a thing of great importance to science, which it is not. I want to be honest in this and right here I say that any observations I took were taken first of all for my own satisfaction, to check out line of march. They corroborated my growing consciousness of success. The constant travelling over miles of ice and the enduring of pain engendered in my mind a conviction which no figures could have evoked. At the time, however, I did not doubt my figures. The thought of inaccuracy never occurred to me. True, I was mentally disposed to credit a favorable reckoning. Were my observations incorrect? It is quite possible. Analyzing them and the conditions, physical and mental, under which they were taken, I do not know, I can never tell ultimately."

"The thing that convinced Dr. Cook and his Eskimos that he reached the Pole was the fact that they obtained a point where their shadows at noon and midnight were of equal length. 'At noon' he says, 'the shadow represented in its length the altitude of the sun, about 12 degrees. At six o'clock it was the same. At midnight it was the same. At six o'clock in the morning it was the same. Let us, for the sake of argument, grant that all our instrumental observations are wrong. Herein instrumental assistance places the sun at about the same height for every hour of the day and night.'"

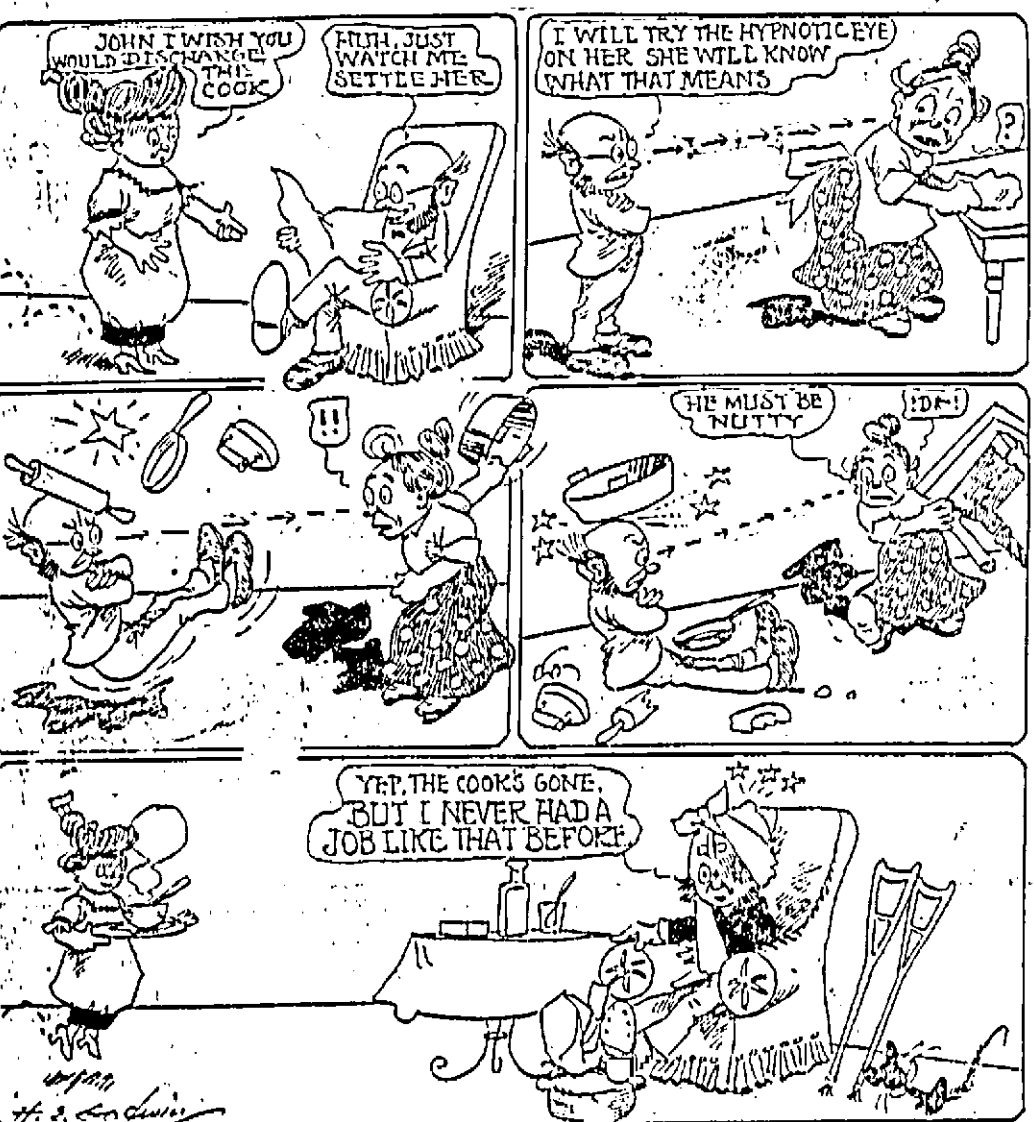

Dr. Cook described how his two Eskimos played with the shadow circles. "Here then," the Doctor concludes, "I felt was an important observation—placing me with fair accuracy at the Pole, and unlike all other observations, it was not based on that impossible dream of absolutely accurate time. It is known that after long fasting spiritual trances and hallucinations of religious ascetic follows. My mind, starved by impoverished blood and shrunken with faintness reeled. The thought that I was here, on the very apex of the world, circling an unknown story, where no man had ever stood, was intoxication."

Effective Fog Shifter.

A very effective fog shifter, by the way, is a good snowstorm. Last boxing day, the snow that fell on the roof of the Lancet office was analyzed, and the result compared with a similar analysis of snow that fell in Kent. The result showed that the London snow, which was chiefly made up of sulphur, tar and organic ammonia, fetched down with a large percentage of the coal smoke—that is a chief constituent of London fog, while the Kent snow when melted was like distilled water. —London Daily News.

Things Keep Moving.

"Things are bound to keep moving," said Uncle Eben. "Da fact dat one man can't come back 'nless gives some one else a chance to come forward."

HE NEVER HAD A JOB LIKE THAT BEFORE.

Must Know the German Language.

A noted firm of fire-extinguisher manufacturers in London, doing extensive business in Germany, have decided that all their clerks, from the office-boy upwards, must acquire a knowledge of German. "Cotton is given in that language during business hours," half the staff collect in a room apart for an hour's instruction, at the end of which they resume their ordinary duties, and the rest take their turn in "going to school."

Paper from Pent.

Paper making from pent on a commercial scale has already begun in Sweden, where a company, capitalized at more than a million dollars, has made extensive purchases of pent logs and prepared plans for the erection of mills for turning out wrapping paper and pasteboard, says a bulletin issued by the government. A ton of paper worth $30 can be made from pent at a total cost of $15, and in two hours' time.

By-Product of Match Factory.

One match factory on the Pacific coast, covers 240 acres and operates over 30 miles of railroad, over which is carried to it daily 200,000 feet of sugar pine and yellow pine logs for the match machines. Inferior lumber will not do. It must be straight-grained and free from knots and carefully treated in addition. The by-product goes into larger things. This factory turns out as by-product a thousand doors and 500 window cashes daily.

ROBIN HOOD AMMUNITION

NOT MADE BY A TRUST

It makes no difference whether it snows or rains, whether it is hot or cold, Robin Hood Ammunition is never affected by climatic changes. It is always in the same reliable, trustworthy condition—ready for immediate use—ready to kill further—get there quicker—hit harder and "kick" less than any other ammunition.

"IT'S ALL IN THE POWDER"

All other powders are exploded by a striking force, causing tremendous pressure that starts the shot at the top rate of speed. This velocity decreases quickly after the first sharp explosion. The heavy "kick" also proves that a large part of the pressure is wasted on your shoulder instead of being applied to the shot.

Our Powders, burning gradually, drive the shot with ever-increasing force from breech to muzzle. Full force of the charge comes only when the powder is wholly consumed—at the very muzzle. Results: greatest possible muzzle velocity and penetration, yet much less kick than you find in other powders. Our Powders do not crush or disfigure the shot as other powders will do, and this means that Robin Hood Ammunition shoots straight—shoots where you point the gun.

Our four brands of powder are:

- Robin Hood Smokeless, loaded in Robin Hood and Comet Shells.
- Pearless Smokeless, loaded in Clipper and Capital Shells.
- Eclipse Smokeless, loaded in Crescent and Aurora Shells.
- Explosive, Near Smokeless, loaded in Eclipse Shells.

We also make a line of Metallic Cartridges, .22, .32, and .38 calibre, that are without equal for target and gallery practice. They are loaded with smokeless powder and are adapted to all makes of firearms using these sizes. Any Robin Hood Ammunition from any of the dealers whose names appear below. If this is inconvenient, write us and we will see that you are supplied. Write for our catalog, anyway.

Remember, we are the only ammunition manufacturers in America that manufacture Smokeless Powder and load the products of our own mills.

These Suggestions May Help You

Clothing buyers are showing their appreciation of Rehberg's splendid pre-holiday suit offering. Can you think of anything that would be more certain of pleasing? We have placed on sale a number of these finely tailored suits that would sell ordinarily for $25 and $30. They are made of pure worsteds and silk mixed worsteds, in shades of gray, tan and brown and blue serges; your choice, $20.00.

The present overcoat season has been the greatest in Rehberg's history. Our overcoat business the past six weeks especially has been enormous, which is but the logical result, however, of the greater value giving. If you have an overcoat want, fill it here, at prices ranging from $10.00 to $30.00. We call particular attention to the very exceptional offerings at these prices, $11, $14.75, $20.

House Coats

The solid comfort and luxury that any man can derive from a House Coat makes it the happiest gift selection that can be chosen. Our holiday exhibit is of interest to all from its variety in rich designs, fabrics and prices range $3.50 to $10.00.

WOMAN'S PAGE

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON.

A SEWING CIRCLE absolutely without gossip! Can you imagine it? Impossible? No, it exists.

Or did at the moment of writing. I won't vouch for any more than that.

It is at Columbus, Missouri. The by-laws of the society forbid its members to comment on their neighbors' dress, appearance or behavior.

There is a schedule of fines for violations of these laws.

In our church is a Ladies' Aid Society to which several of the prominent church women do not belong.

Why?

Oh, just because some one in the society said something about them and someone else kindly repeated the kind words.

Seems to me every woman's aid society in the land ought to adopt that sewing circle's by-laws.

Allice Freeman Palmer, the famous president of Wellesley College, was often troubled by being told when she attempted to trace strange reports and stories to their source that "some girl" had said this or that.

One morning, therefore, she announced at prayers that she had turned "some girl" out of college and did not wish to hear of her again.

Don't you think it would be fine if all "some girls" older sisters and brothers who insist the world at large could be similarly banished "far beyond the northern sea" or since the northern sea has become attainable, far beyond the southern sea.

If you do, why don't you assist in the banishing? How?

Why simply by never giving credence to or passing on any story that has for its authority "some one said," or the even more common, "they say."

Every time you do that you are bringing nearer the way when the death warrant of "some girl" and all her crowd shall be signed.

Visiting gardens is the very distinctive vocation of a Pennsylvania woman. She had been a teacher in the public schools when her health broke down and she was told by her doctors that she must live in an outdoor life. She rented a farm in a suburban district, hired two laborers to help her, and procured engagements to take care of the lawns and gardens of people who did not have hired men, at the rate of fifteen and later twenty cents an hour. On her own farm she raised the shrubs and flowers which she sold to her customers. After seven years she is making about one hundred dollars a month. She says therefore a great many women earning small salaries in cities, who would be happier and healthier and make more money running farms.

Make mother your chum. You can not do better than that if you search the whole world over. Not another being in all the world will bring as much love and companionship. Not another being in all the world will bring as much patience into this relationship.

The girl who makes mother her chum and confidante, is not likely to be found on the losing side in life's game. If one could ask the human wrecks that float hither and thither in the world the reason for their plight they would say one of two things. "They had no mother to guide them or, they shut mother out of their lives at the time she was most needed."

Your mother's face may be scarred by the sorrows of the world, her hands scarred by hard work, her shoulders bent by the burden of toil almost too heavy for a woman's shoulders to bear, but to you she should stand apart, unscathed and beautiful because of these scars, these scars and these bent shoulders, because they are evidences of her love for you. She has proved her love for you, prove yours for her.

Katherine Rip

Marriage and Liberty.

Liberty comes in such different ways! For women it comes most often through marriage.

Nine women in ten have more space after they are married for the exercise of their wills than they had before; therefore we can all see more clearly what they really are. The most tyrannical husband cannot rob a woman of her authority over her children and her household. The good woman is better, the hard woman is harder, the mean woman is meaner than ever she was.

Usually a married woman has a more strongly marked character than her unmarried sister. Her friends find it more easy to call up her mental face; they are more sure how she will act in given circumstances. Marriage is almost always fraught with some surprises to the student of character. These surprises are loosely described as changes; but change in character is so rare an occurrence, more especially in women, that it should never be regarded as an explanation unless all others fail.

Moritol Sore Throat Tablets are a distinct preparation of merit, a new discovery for the relief of sore throat, in its various forms, Tonsillitis, Quinsy, Thrush, Ulcerated and Canker Sore Throat, Hoarseness and similar diseases of the mouth and throat. Every user is surprised at the prompt and certain results. Try them. The Reliable Drug Co., the "Moritol" store.

THE GIRL AND HER CHUM.

About every girl thinks she must have a "chum." That's good because it is a normal trait. The human soul craves companionship and the healthy soul reaches out for it. The child from the time it is old enough to think, to understand even a little of the relationship of life, begins to feel out for companionship, and so we find the boy choosing his "pal" and the girl her "chum."

Then life begins to have real interest because there is a mutuality of concern. The child for the first time in its existence begins to feel the value of association and its little world begins to extend its horizon.

But the "chum!" What of her? To be of a value to the child she must fill in some need of the child nature. Watch children and see how well it is carried out.

As the girl grows older a great deal depends upon the character of the "chum."

What better chum than mother can the girl have who has left the first stages of childhood and is entering upon the intermediary period before womanhood? What better chum can the growing and grown girl have than her mother?

No one in all the world understands the nature of the child and the girl better than mother. She may not be wise as the world knows wisdom. She may not be versed in the laws of inheritance, or psychology or any one of the dozen or so things that have come to enter into the study of children and young people but she does understand an indelible way that mothers have, the laws governing the instincts, the inclinations and laws of her child's nature. She, better than any one else knows why certain traits come upon them. She knows better than any one else why her child's inclinations naturally turn in certain directions, and therefore, she is better fitted to be the real chum of the girl.

DATE MUFFINS

A New Way of Using Dates

By Mrs. Janet McKenzie Hill, Editor of the Boston Cooking School Magazine

The value of dates as a food is hardly appreciated. They are wholesome, nutritious, and when used in K C Date Muffins, make a cake that is appreciated by the entire family.

One-third cup butter; 1/2 cup sugar; 1 egg; 1/2 cup milk; 2 cups flour; 3 level teaspoons K C Baking Powder; 1/2 teaspoon salt; scant 1/2 pound dates.

Cream the butter, add the sugar and the egg, beaten light. Sift together three times the flour, baking powder and salt; add these to the first mixture, alternately with the milk; beat thoroughly and add the dates, stoned and cut in pieces. To bake, have a slow oven until the muffins double in bulk, then increase heat to bake and brown quickly. Muffins baked this way will be light, appetizing and more easily digested.

This is only one of the many appetizing recipes found in the K C Cook's Book.

The wonderful K C Cook's Book is substantially bound and printed in fine colors, contains ninety tested and easily made recipes by Mrs. Janet McKenzie Hill, of the world famous Boston Cooking School Magazine.

You can secure a copy FREE by sending the colored certificate packed in 25-cent cans of K C Baking Powder to the JAGUO MFG CO., Chicago.

Be sure to write name and address plainly.

Domestic Girl is Happy.

The girl whose sphere is set in domesticity can find as keen a satisfaction in doing her work to the very best of her ability as can her sister who achieves college honors or fame in the literary world. Indeed, there is something peculiarly satisfying and fine and healthy about work with the hands, because, for one thing, it is generally service for others.

Again, the great mass of women must inevitably find their scope in domestic life, and every girl, whatever her social position may be, would be the better for two years' thorough training in housewifery, says the Philadelphia Inquirer. Therefore, if you are going through your "hopeless phase," try good honest housework as an antidote. Work hard with your hands and at the same time cultivate a cheerful spirit and an interested habit of mind.

WIFE'S INFELICITY BARRED IN COURT—MRS. MENLOW E. MOORE.

Vincennes, Ind.—Paralleling the famous Thaw case in almost every detail, the confession of Mrs. Menlow E. Moore on the witness stand to save her husband from the hangman or life imprisonment has startled the state. It was some months ago that Mr. Moore, a well known theatrical man, shot and killed on the platform of the Union station here Charles E. Gibson, wealthy oil king. His defense is the unwritten law and insanity. In order to show the unbalanced condition of his mind at the time of the shooting it has been necessary for his wife to lay bare the secrets of her life as far as they tend to show that Mr. Moore, knowing the confession, was under a mental strain which completely unbalanced his mind and made him temporarily insane. The courtroom is crowded and interest in the case is manifested throughout the entire state on account of the prominence of all the parties involved.

THE CHRISTMAS SHOPPER

ROBERT DONNELLY

(Copyright, 1910, by American Press Association.)

THIS is for men only. If women read it they may laugh at the men, thereby causing family disturbances. It is about Christmas shopping, in which women are interested, but it is about men's shopping, not women's. So much has been written concerning the matter of women buying Christmas presents for men that it seems high time to show the other side of the shield. Among all the domestic tragedies incident to this life none is so poignantly pitiful as the annual tragedy that takes place when Mr. Man goes forth surreptitiously to purchase Yuletide gifts for his ladylove, or his wife, widow or maid.

"What would she like, I wonder?" sighs Mr. Man. The sigh is long drawn out, like the linked sweetness of the first kiss. By the time he enters the big, bewildering department store which he has passed by a thousand times without entering and which is to him an unknown wonderland he quits sighing and begins seeing. The first things he sees are the scores of pretty salesgirls, including some not so pretty. But of course not one of them is half so pretty as the girl, wife or widow for whom he is going to buy that—well, now, what? He begins to sigh some more.

Al, a box of gloves—the very thing! And yet what size does she wear? Suppose he got her three sizes too large for her dainty hands! Awful!

Then he goes to the other extreme—or extremity—and resolves to get her a pair of those beautiful satin slippers which he discovers on a counter. But, again, what size? If he should make the sad error of getting a single size too large she would stare sarcastically at him and inquire:

"Do you think I'm from Chicago?"

Gloves and slippers are marked "taboo" in his calculations. Well and good. Her hands and feet are disposed of. Now, how about her head?

Why, a set of those back and side combs—the very thing! All women like pretty combs, of course. But maybe his particular woman is sensitive and she might imagine that he imagines that she doesn't keep her hair tidy.

"Oh, I suppose she knows when she needs hair combs!" sighs Mr. Man, turning to the next counter. Her head is out of the question. So far as Christmas presents go, she is decapitated.

Well, that still leaves a considerable portion of the lady adaptable to adornments.

"Where are the Cronomas?" asks the man.

"We don't sell violins in this store," replies Miss Saleslady.

"Go to a music house!"

"Violins! I'm looking for a lady's house dress, a sort of wrapper!"

"Oh, you mean a kimono!" giggles the girl, passing on the giggle to the next girl, who is likewise giggling.

"Didn't I say kimono, miss?" the man says a little testily.

"Third floor; take elevator," says the giggly girl.

Mr. Man finally finds the kimono department. The stock is bewildering. He never imagined there were so many kinds of kimonos in the world. He had associated the kimono with the Japanese and supposed they were all Japs. He couldn't fail to get one to fit. They were all so loose and flowing that most anything in the shape of a Japanese kimono would fit any woman as well as it was fitted to fit. So at last the search is ended. Bureaucratic!

"The latest and daintiest thing is the French flannel kimono," says the chief saleswoman, whereupon she shows Mr. Man a late and dainty creation in pink flannel which looks no more like a Japanese kimono than a caterpillar looks like a butterfly.

"But—how can I know this will fit?" asks Mr. Man.

"About how large is your lady?" asks the saleswoman.

"Oh, about your size—hundred and twenty pounds."

Miss Saleslady swells. She is quite plump to begin with.

"I guess you're mistaken about her being my size," she says somewhat scornfully, secure in her possession of the fact that she weighed 145 on the penny stool machine only this morning.

Mr. Man is embarrassed and helpless.

"I'll be back in a few minutes," he says, having definitely determined to get a French flannel kimono.

Mr. Man goes down to the first floor, where the giggly girls abound. For ten minutes he wanders around through the aisles, casting longing glances at the salesgirls. Now and then he pauses and eyes one girl in particular. Finally the floorwalker, who has been eyeing

Mr. Man, steps up and asks: "Anything in particular, sir?" "Yes, I'm looking for a girl about the size of my—I mean the lady I'm trying to buy a Christmas present for. That young lady with the billowy blond hair is just about the size."

"Well, what of it?" asks the floorwalker.

"I want to borrow that girl for about five minutes."

"The dance you do?"

"Yes, to go upstairs to the French kimono section and try on a kimono for me—I mean for my—the other lady, see?"

The floorwalker sees; also he smiles. But Christmas is coming, so let him feel cheerful.

"Here, Mike Lou," says the floorwalker to the billowy blond. Mike Lou accepts the assignment gracefully, accompanies the gentleman up to the third floor, chatting amiably en route, and tries on French kimono after French kimono. At last one fits snugly.

Mr. Man pays the price. The dainty garment is bundled up and sent to his address, and his troubles are over. But are they? There's a sequel. It happens that Mr. Man is buying this kimono for the dearest girl in the world, who is to become his own and only wife on New Year's day. She has confided to him that she believes in useful Christmas gifts, something nice to wear. For instance, and he has paid $48.95 for a nice French flannel kimono. Very well. It is three days till Christmas eve. That very night when he reaches home Mr. Man finds this note, left by messenger:

Mr. Man—All is over between us. I will send your ring and the dog collar and the bracelet tomorrow. I was in Goldenstein & Abraham's this afternoon and saw you making eyes at half the girls in the store; then I saw you openly flirting with a blindfold creature. I dropped my veil down so you couldn't see me. I heard you say "third floor" when you went to the elevator with her. I went up to the next car and watched you buy a beautiful French kimono for that horrid wretch! Is it necessary for me to say more?

GROWERS' ASS'N HAS BEEN REORGANIZED

Wisconsin Tobacco Men Change Name
Of Society To Farmers Tobacco Association.

Wisconsin farmers growing tobacco, members of the Wisconsin Tobacco Growers' association held a meeting in Madison yesterday at which it was decided to change the name of the organization to the Farmers Tobacco Association. The society will incorporate and engage in the tobacco business on a co-operative basis, operating warehouses for the members as a body. Following the plan of tobacco associations in the south, the crops will be stored and held until prices can be obtained. Officers elected by the association were: J. H. Townsend, Cambridge, president; vice-president, J. C. Hanson, Deerfield; secretary, George O. Moon, Stoughton; treasurer, Jacob Asenon, Stoughton; and directors: Earl E. Burn, Gay Mills; John Davidson, Westby; Judge D. O. Mahoney, Virgatus, A. Nelson, Chilpanco Park, and O. M. Olson, Stoughton.

Buying Slow.
The near approach of the holidays, says the Madison Reporter, coupled with the absence of curing weather, is largely responsible for a decided slackening away of buying movement which has been very nearly suspended in the country districts. Late sales, however, hold around the figures frequently quoted in this column.

The market for old leaf is reported quiet in all the centers of trade as the season for annual inventory approaches and neither manufacturer or jobber cares to increase their holdings until the revenue books are balanced. Growers are waiting patiently for curing weather that does not come, so that they may attend to the stripping and delivery of the crop which is very largely sold under contract.

The shipments out of storage reached 970 cases from this market to all points for the week past.

It is not often the case that so large a percentage of any crop has been sold in the fields or hanging on the poles as the present one, which the best posted judges place close to 80 per cent of the entire acreage. And this is what makes the absence of curing weather an embarrassing condition, for if the crop was ready for delivery growers might be able to get this work off their hands during the winter months, while there is little else to claim their attention on the farm. It would prove rather unfortunate if winter continues without the needed tobacco damp to bring the hanging leaf out of the sheds. The laboring class in the packing centers depend largely upon warehouse work for employment during the winter and the inconvenience would be a severe one to them also. So it is not alone the releasing of the money the crop will bring, but the employment that is needed to help along business throughout the tobacco growing section.

Local Court So Often Was Arrested Here Last Night.

Ben De Groot, an aged broadhead man who has been in the local municipal court for drunkenness on numerous occasions, was picked up last evening by Officer Sam Brown and notification was given to City Marshal Gardner of his home town. The latter came here and took De Groot to Monroe where an examination of the man's mental condition will be made. His recent actions are believed to indicate insanity.

LAKOTA CARDINALS PLAY U. OF W. TEAM

Varsity Cardinals Promise to Give Local Basketball Team Hard
Run for Honors.

Tonight the fast team of the University of Wisconsin Cardinals play against the Lakota Cardinals of this city at the roller rink. The university team have played here previously this season and were a little too clever for the local five, but it is hoped that at this contest the Janesville quintet can even up by beating their opponents. They have, however, an extremely difficult task before them and if they accomplish it, they will have achieved something noteworthy, as matched against them will be some of the best players at the school at Madison. The Capital City aggregation have strengthened by securing a new center, Kuehnmister, who played here before, was a strong basketball man, but the new player is said to be able to go him one better. The rest of the team will be the same as before. Janesville will play the usual lineup: Sonnett, Cunningham, Robertson, Murphy, Langdon and Green.

MOTOR-DRIVEN FIRE DEPT. VEHICLE MADE FIRST RUN

New Automobile Was Driven by Chief
Klein to John P. Cullen Home and Gave Satisfaction.

At half past nine o'clock yesterday morning the automobile recently added to the fire department equipment was its first test run. The firemen were called to John P. Cullen's home, 1246 Racine street, to put out a chimney blaze. Chief Klein drove the machine without difficulty and made a fast run. The blaze was extinguished with a small chemical engine.

NARROWLY ESCAPED IN SERIOUS ACCIDENT

Clinton Farmer Had a Close Call
When Large Load of Straw Fell Upon Him.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Clinton, Dec. 15.—Oscar Duxstad, a farmer living south of town, had a narrow escape from what might have proven a very serious accident. He was unloading straw from a wagon with a carrier, an unusually large load had gone up and when near the top of the barn the rope broke, letting the large load fall directly on top of Mr. Duxstad, who did not have time to jump. It was feared several ribs were broken, but an examination revealed only a badly scratched face and severely strained muscles on his left side.

CHRISTMAS BOOKS FOR YOUNG AND OLD

Books and Folk Lore of the Christmas Season—List of Stories Placed in Library Reading Room.

With the advent of the Christmas season much interest is centered in the books and stories on Christmas subjects. There are many books of this nature in the public library and the librarians have prepared a list of some of the most interesting works both for young and old, which are at the disposal of everyone. A list of Christmas stories has also been placed in the reading room and the librarians will be pleased to assist all who ask in finding the volume desired.

Some of the books for older people are: "Hervy's Book of Christmas," Morris' "In the Yuletide Glow," Ogden's "Christmas Stories from French and Spanish Writers," Stockton's "The Christmas Wreck," Thackeray's "Christmas Stories," Van Dyke's "First Christmas Tree" and "The Other Christmas Tree," Williamson's "Rosemary," Irving's "Christmas," Smart's "Christmas Gifts" and "Christmas at the Trimbles."

Christmas stories for children include the following: Dickson's "Christmas Stories," Miller's "Krisley's Quest," "Christmas," Pomeroy's "Saburo's Return" and "A Loyal Little Subject," Safford's "The Christmas Country," Wiggins' "Hild's Christmas Carol," Wish's "Christmas in Denmark."

HOT WEATHER SUGGESTIONS.

Less meat, bread and potatoes should be eaten in hot weather, and more fruit and green vegetables. If a breakfast is eaten, the sedentary worker should eat only fruit, excluding bananas, and on very hot days would do well to eat only rice and cream with a glass of buttermilk or toast and poached egg, or bananas and pineapple, or a similar combination for dinner, and spruces with pineapple and olive oil or rice and cream, or figs and melons, or pineapple and bananas for supper. The draft made upon the vitality by the digestion of the ordinary heavy meal eaten during hot weather dissipates energy that would otherwise enable one to keep cool. A cold bath in the morning is very desirable and refreshing for most people.

Best Cough Medicine for Children.

The season for coughs and colds is not at hand and too much care cannot be used to protect the children. A child is much more likely to contract diphtheria or scarlet fever when he has a cold. The quicker you cure his cold the less the risk. Meritol Cough Remedy is the sole reliance of many mothers, and few of those who have tried it are willing to use any other. Mrs. J. D. Mullany of Decorah, Ia., says: "I have never used anything other than Meritol Cough Remedy for my children and it has always given good satisfaction." This remedy contains no opium or other narcotic and may be given as confidently to a child as to an adult. For sale by the Reliable Drug Co., Druggists, Members American Drug & Press Association.

STANDING OF TEAMS IN Y. M. C. A. LEAGUES

Maroons Are Holding First Place in Senior League and the Vultures in the "B" Junior.

Basket ball among the classes at the Y. M. C. A. is played with continued interest and the contests are exceptionally good as evidenced by the low scores and narrow margins by which games are won. In the games last evening the Maroons won from the Gophers with the score of 7 to 4, and the Badgers lost to the Wolverines 13 to 9. The Maroons captured by Ryder, tonight their position at the head of the Senior league. The standing of the teams is as follows:

Can't Wear Brown Shoes.

"Do you know that certain individuals cannot possibly wear brown shoes?" Inquired the veteran shoe clerk.

"I have been in the business more than twenty years, and I can name several regular customers, who every season make a frantic but futile effort to wear brown shoes in precisely the same size, made over the same last and in the same quality of leather as the black ones they are discarding, and yet within a month the customers come back saying they had given away their shoes for a pair of brown shoes. It seems as if some feet are not constituted to endure the touch of the brown leather."

Cynical.

"Why does that dog of yours always howl when he sees me?" "Because, my dear fellow, he's rude enough to express what other people feel!"—Val-timore American.

YOUR SOUR, GASSY UPSET STOMACH WILL FEEL FINE IN FIVE MINUTES

Indigestion and all other Stomach distress goes after taking a Little Diaphepsin.

You can eat anything your stomach craves without fear of indigestion or dyspepsia, or that your food will ferment or sour on your stomach, if you will take a Little Diaphepsin occasionally.

Your meals will taste good, and anything you eat will be digested; nothing can ferment or turn into acid or poison on stomach gas, which causes Belching, Dizziness, a feeling of fullness after eating, Nausea, Indigestion (like a lump of lead in stomach), Headaches, Heartburn, Water brash, Pain in stomach and intestines or other symptoms.

Headaches from the stomach are absolutely unknown where this effective remedy is used. Diaphepsin really does Staten Island's Buried Stumps.

Every once in awhile, after storms tear off sections of the Staten Island meadows, great stumps and roots of ancient trees are uncovered. These roots are five or six feet underneath the meadows, and root out into the post-glacial clay and silt, so may be a matter of thousands of years old, or may hark back to the time when Staten Island was a bank of the Hudson, for the valley of the Hudson extends out to sea 80 miles, where it drops sheer into the Atlantic basin.—New York Press.

Sex Inequality.

It doesn't cost much to get a man ready to be married. He buys a new suit of clothes, two suits of underwear, three extra pairs of socks, has his hair cut, and is ready. But think of the stuff a girl thinks she must buy when she gets married! Are girls so superior to men that they cannot get married without fifteen or twenty times more clothes?—Atlantic Globe.

Another one of those big dinners I used to be afraid of. Not afraid any more. Nothing to worry about. Eat anything I want, any time I want, and feel fine all the time. Just naturally feel fine. Peps-o-da—that's the answer.

Peps-o-da

For The Stomach

One to three tablets after a meal for the next few days will make you a full-fledged member of the "I Feel Fine Club."

Peps-o-da relieves indigestion wonderfully, puts the stomach in working order, clears it up, sweetens the breath, makes you forget you ever had dyspepsia; puts a new sparkle in your eyes, a new pink in your cheeks.

Peps-o-da is a combination of pure vegetable pepsin (not animal pepsin) and pure soda.

Many leading physicians say it's the finest thing man ever made for stomach troubles. A lot of them are taking Peps-o-da themselves.

Little Bed-Time Tales By EDITH HAVENS

Brother Robert

THE great college football game of the season was to be played the following Saturday, and there was great excitement in the Denning household. Brother Robert was going to play with the Yale team.

And, best of all, Harold and Louise were going to the game with Mr. Denning.

Oh, they could hardly wait for the great day to come, and when it finally did come, with its wonderful crisp air and sunshine, they were overjoyed.

It was very early in the morning when they started off for New Haven, a long way from New York. The game was to be played at the Yale field at New Haven.

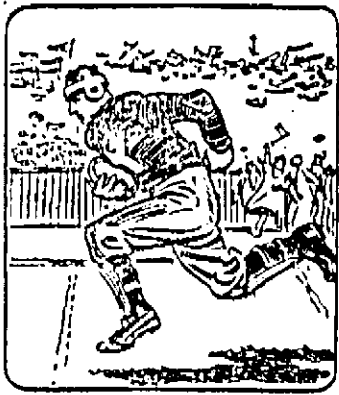

Of course, there were many Harvard men on the train. Louise could tell them by the crimson flags they carried. She and Harold carried blue ones with a great white Y on the sides.

Two or three times the children heard the Harvard men talking about Brother Robert, and they were proud indeed when one of them said that Denning was the best man on the Yale team.

When the train arrived at New Haven they disembarked and entered a waiting barge, and away they went to the Yale field.

The streets were jammed with people. Crimson and blue color was everywhere, and when finally they arrived at the field they just gasped at the wonderful sight that they saw.

Thousands had already arrived before them, and the great stands rising up to the skyline looked like wonderful sloping flower gardens of red and blue. Louise said the Harvard stand looked like a poppy field, while Harold pictured the Yale side as a great bank of bachelor buttons.

At last they were seated, and then a great roar went up, for the Yale team was seen coming on the field.

Yes, yes, there was Robert, and he was running swiftly in front. Louise just held onto her ears, there was such a racket, and they trembled all over with excitement. Then the Harvard team arrived and another roar went up. The bands played and the students of each university joined in a mighty chorus.

And then 22 men lined up on that chalked line field; a whistle blew and the game was on.

And what a game Robert did play. He kicked the ball farther than any man on the field and his brilliant running with men hanging all over brought the Yale stand to its feet.

Harold and Louise were shouting at the top of their voices.

And when at the end of the game the men in blue, overjoyed with a six to 0 victory, carried Robert Denning off on their shoulders, Harold and Louise were just too happy to talk.

Oh, it was a wonderful day—the greatest these little people had ever had, and weren't they proud of Brother Robert?

London's Electric Railways.

It is stated that on the three tube railways, comprising 41.65 miles of single line, controlled by the Underground Electric Railways Company of London, the number of automatic signals averages 15.85 per mile, and that those signals drop and rise 1,538,282 times a week. The weekly cost of maintenance is said to be £4 3s. 6d. per track mile, £m. 3 22d. per signal, and 457d. per train mile.

Population.

"How many people in this place?" asked a curious traveler of an indolent native, as the train stopped at a western water-tank. "Wal," replied the native, "I guess they's about 26 providin' old Hank Williams ain't dead yet; he was mighty sick this mornin'." They's a new arrival expected, though, an' that'll still make it the same when Hank dies; that is, providin' the new arrival ain't twint'.

Methods to Prevent Breakdown.

Very heavy are the burdens of some of the high officers in Great Britain, and leaders have been driven to curious methods to prevent breakdown. When Robert Lowe was chancellor of the exchequer he laid down 90 feet of asphalt and got himself a pair of roller skates. That was his method of unloading a liver and the fatigues of office. Earl Spencer, when in Ireland, during the darkest days of his office, found riding fast and far one thing to relieve his spirits of gloom. Gladstone cut down the trees and translated the classics; Lord Randolph Churchill went racing.

Print Paper from Rice Straw.

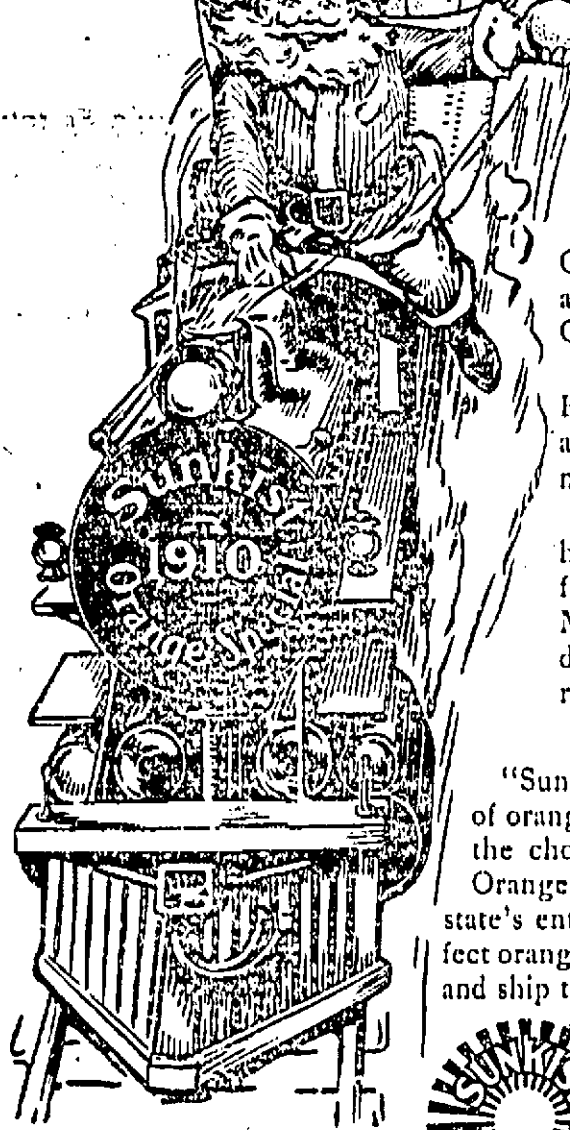

A new raw material for the manufacture of print paper has been discovered in rice straw, and it is hoped that this product may partly take the place of wood pulp, which is now growing scarce. Rice straw has been so high that it was not practicable for ordinary purposes. A machine has been invented which has a capacity of five tons of rice straw pulp a day. Demonstrations of this machine are now being made in the rice fields of Louisiana and Texas, and if it proves successful the rice farmers will devote more land to the raising of this grain.

Letters of Interest Found.

The Universalist church in Gloucester has discovered what it considers a priceless treasure in an old desk once the property of John Murray, the father of the faith in this country. The piece of furniture was about to be thrown away when a member of the parish committee, in rummaging through the drawers, found letters proving its identity. Murray came to this country in 1770, and later joined the revolutionary forces as chaplain. He was compelled to resign on account of ill health, and returned to Gloucester, where he founded the present church.—Springfield Republican.

"Sunkist" Oranges for Health

A Veritable FEAST of "Sunkist" Oranges for Christmas!

Santa Claus Has Just Arrived, Bringing Millions of California's Finest Oranges—the "SUNKIST" Kind. On Sale All Week at Your Dealer's!

Oranges for breakfast! Oranges for lunch! Oranges between meals! Oranges served whole and in halves! Oranges in desserts and salads! Oranges in every conceivable form.

That is the program for Christmas and the Holidays. The people of this city and vicinity are to be given an orange treat such as they have never had before.

For millions of delicious, fresh, tree-ripened, hand-picked oranges, direct from California's fruit farms, have arrived. They will be on sale Monday morning. Your fruit dealer will supply you at a very reasonable price.

The Perfect Orange

"Sunkist" is not a species, size or variety of orange—it is a certain grade or quality, the choicest of each of 5,000 California Orange Farmers, who produce 60% of the state's entire crop. They pack all their perfect oranges under the one name, "Sunkist," and ship them by special fast freight.

It is a tree-ripened orange. Every "Sunkist" orange is firm, solid and sound. It is picked by a gloved hand. No orange that falls to the ground or becomes bruised or damaged in any other way, ever bears the "Sunkist" name.

You Save Money by Getting "Sunkists"

In addition to being the finest flavored of all oranges, "Sunkist" are also the most economical you can buy.

The California Fruit Growers' Exchange, 34 Clark Street, Chicago, Ill.

Being thin-skinned, fibreless and seedless, they are nearly all "meat" and no waste. You waste money when you buy any other kind of oranges.

Buy a box of "Sunkist" oranges and your fruit dealer will make you a special price. You will find no trouble in keeping them as long as you want to, because "Sunkists" reach you in excellent condition.

Most Healthful Fruit Known

Physicians now claim that the orange is the most healthful of all fruits. Hence, it is a food that can be eaten liberally and as often as desired. It is much more appetizing and healthful for children, men and women than candy, pastry and other too-rich foods.

Medical authorities state that to counteract the meats and other heavy foods we eat, one should eat oranges liberally. It is a universally known fact that orange juice is an excellent food for the brain cells and a tonic for run-down nerves. No better laxative than sound, ripe oranges can be found.

Save Your "Sunkist" Wrappers

By saving your "Sunkist" orange and -lemon wrappers you can easily secure a full set of genuine Rogers Orange spoons, dessert spoons and fruit knives. The patterns shown are new 1911 styles, designed exclusively for us. They are as attractive and stylish as money can buy. All are Rogers quality, standard A-No. 1 plate and are fully guaranteed by the maker. No advertising appears on any of our premiums.

Read on the right the description of these valuable premiums and how to get them.

FORTY YEARS AGO

The Janesville Gazette, Dec. 16, 1870—Jottings—The meeting of the Young Men's Association this evening, promises to be of more of usual interest. We understand the lecture committee will submit two reports on the matter of opening the new court house. A majority in favor of the grand banquet, toasts, speeches, music, and dancing, and a minority report recommending a less expensive entertainment. A committee report in favor of changing the time of meeting from Friday, to Monday evening, will come up for consideration. The library committee of last year will make a very interesting and elaborate report; the election of treasurer to take the place of E. E. Welch, resigned, will also take place, besides essays, readings and a debate on the question of purchasing San Domingo by the United States.

Mr. Blaisdell of the town of Janesville, of whose injuries we made notice yesterday, may possibly recover. His symptoms are decidedly favorable today.

First class musical and intellectual entertainments of our church and societies have been successfully introduced this season, but the original idea of furnishing a little treat in the way of a good cup of coffee and a light lunch was first inaugurated by the Baptists. It adds materially to the enjoyment of those who attend. On Monday night they will entertain their many friends, and to the usual number of good things offered, there will be some music of an original character, and the cost of all this is only one dime.

The public schools of this city closed this noon for a vacation of three weeks.

The thermometer still indicates 29 degrees above zero, with a clear sky and no indications of severe cold.

Unique System of Voting.
In Belgium and in Holland a black square with a white spot in its center is printed opposite the name of each candidate. The elector votes by blackening out as many of the white spots on his paper as he is entitled to; he then folds it and drops it into the box.

SUNSHINE AND Scott's Emulsion

are the two great creators of energy. You can get along without Scott's Emulsion if you have enough sunshine, but for the millions who don't get much sunshine, Scott's Emulsion is absolutely necessary. You can always get Scott's Emulsion. Get sunshine, too, whenever you can.

Easy Method of Killing Felon.

For a felon take common rock salt, as used for salting down pork or beef, dry in an oven, then pound it fine and mix with spirits of turpentine in equal parts, put it in a rag and wrap it around the parts affected. As it gets dry put on more, and in 24 hours you are cured, says a writer. The felon will be dead.

Curious Libel.
It was only the other day that a lady of royal degree sued a billboard company for publishing a libel on her beauty. The libel consisted of a statement that the lady was growing extremely stout and that her face was rapidly losing its beauty of contour.

Fame at Last.

"Whatever is the matter, Percy?" asked the poet's wife, "why are you tearing your hair out?"

"O, Scribner's Magazine has sent me an acceptance for a poem!"

"Why, that's grand! You have been trying to sell them something for so long."

"Well, perhaps it is, but I find the poem I meant to send them is right here on my desk and what I sent them was the backing sheet that I've been using on my typewriter for the last three months!"

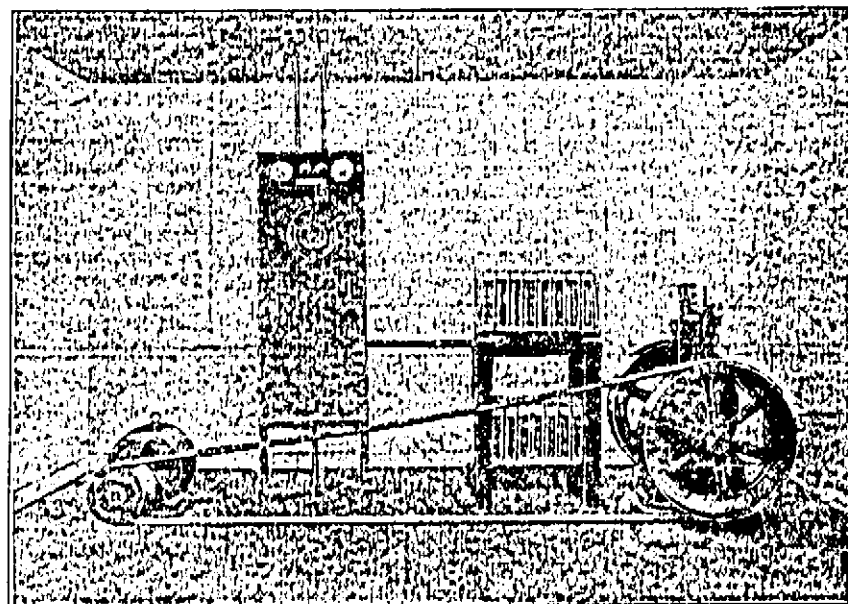

A Husband's Pledge.

A wealthy middle-aged divorcee who married a good looking and companionable young fellow, penniless himself, is said to have exacted from him, as part of the marriage contract, the pledge that he would spend every evening of his life with her. They were inveterate theater-goers until his death, which seems to corroborate the curious story. Many women would like to have the same power of keeping their husbands at home.—New York Press.

The Chauffeur—"It was due to a faulty steering gear."—Brooklyn Life.

Simple, Safe, Economical Electric Lighting Plants for Private Residences

This lighting plant places the comforts, healthfulness and convenience of electric lights within easy reach of everybody. Residence at a distance from the city is no obstacle. The Country Home, the Farm or the Summer Home equipped with one of these plants, has over ready an abundance of light at less cost than is often charged for a similar service from a city plant.

The power is furnished by a simple, economical, close regulating gasoline engine. This drives a dynamo which may be used to run lights direct or which may store up electricity in a storage battery for use in the early morning or at other times when only a small amount of light is desired, but when it is not convenient to run the engine.

The equipment comprises everything necessary for the complete installation of the plant, except the wire, and this may be furnished for residences that are not already wired, at market prices.

A postal, phone or personal call will bring you full information and prices.

Lord Loveland Discovers America

By C. N. AND A. M. WILLIAMSON

Copyright, 1910, by Doubleday, Page & Company. Copyright, 1910, by the McClure Company

Loveland could have broken off into savage laughter. He, a lieutenant in the Grenadier guards, asked by this society theatrical man if it were a sergeant.

"No, I wasn't a sergeant," he replied. "I'm a lieutenant. I hope you didn't leave the army—on short notice, eh? You know what I mean?"

"Do you mean am I a deserter? Well, not your mind at rest," said Loveland, swallowing his wrath. "I'm not a deserter, and I shall bring disgrace upon your company."

"All right, all right. I'll take your word for it. But, any the more I look at you the more I have a kind of sneaking idea I've seen your picture lately. Did you get your photo taken in any of the theatrical papers since you landed?"

"No," Loveland replied, but flushed again, instantly guessing where and in what connection Jacobus must have seen his portrait, a sketch or some snapshot perhaps. Evidently the man did not yet associate him with anything in particular, but the connection between the new juvenile lead and a certain Englishman made notorious by one or two New York papers might at any instant link itself in Mr. Jacobus' mind. This Loveland was far from desiring, not that he thought his value to the management would be decreased by the discovery, rather the contrary, judging by his experience with Alexander, but because he could not bear to repeat that experience.

Jack Jacobus was himself, it seemed, leading man for Miss Lillie de Lisle, the "little human flower"—"heavy lead," he called it, but to the heavy lead apparently belonged all the really good parts in the company's repertoire. Their production struck Loveland as being wonderfully good for a strolling troupe, playing week by week in extremely small towns, but Jacobus laughed when he remarked that it must be expensive to obtain the rights of such popular pieces as Sidney Cromer's, for instance, and to put them on the stage properly.

"Properly!" he echoed, grinning. "Well, that depends. We carry six men, counting me and you, and there ain't many places we put on except Sidney Cromer's comedies, where there is less than a dozen or fifteen male characters, sometimes more. We all double, sometimes each one of us—me, the leading man, because I ain't proud. Same with the women. We carry four of them, counting Lillie herself, and they earn their money. You see, we must, bill popular pieces, melodramas and comedies mostly, or we shouldn't get no houses; so we can't choose plays with few characters to please lazy actors. As for the rights to produce—why, we don't trouble ourselves about them any more than we do about the parts of our juvenile leading gentlemen. What we want we take. It ain't so very risky, though once in a while the police do shove their noses in where nobody wants them, and I confess I'm a bit scared about Sidney Cromer's new piece, which we're just putting up. Say, you're looking kind of sick. I hope you ain't one of the Puritans, are you? Don't they have shows of our sort in your country?"

Loveland said he really didn't know, but as he listened to add he was not a Puritan and anyhow Mr. Jacobus' business was his own that gentleman did not feel called upon to translate into words the thoughts his eyes had begun to express.

Mr. Percival Gordon, it appeared, was expected to play seven parts at the least during the season and must be "letter perfect" in the first one by that very night. It was, however, but a small role—that of an old man who conveniently expired at the end of the first act in great agony. A melodrama called "The Dead Hand" had been chosen for the closing night of the engagement at Modunk because the part of the juvenile lead wasn't too long or difficult to "get up in" with one rehearsal, which they would have after noon, and indeed the "dead hand" was to be that of Mr. Gordon himself. He would appear as a ghost near the end of the last act and wave the said hand behind a gauze with strong lime-light turned upon it; also, incidentally, at a ball he would be asked to "walk on" as a young gentleman of fashion. Could he wait? Good! Then he should have Mrs. Jacobus for his partner, as she liked a decent dancer in that scene, where she had experienced considerable trouble with awkward brutes who stepped on her "party dress." Mrs. Jacobus, known professionally as Miss Thora Moon, was, her husband went on to state, Miss de Lisle's leading lady, who played adventures, villainesses and important parts of that ilk to "the human flower's" southerly and ingenuities.

"My wife had some money when I married her," he mentioned with an introspective look, accompanied by a faint sigh. This Loveland was enabled to guess how it was that Mr. Jacobus might have been induced to forget his early penchant for Miss de Lillie, "little gal."

Jacobus stopped in Main street in front of an ugly new building constructed of wood and brick. There was a kind of veranda, above which appeared a large signboard with the words "Smith's Hotel" in green and gold letters.

"Here we are," said Jacobus, sighing as he looked at him and increased patient leathers. "The whole crowd's here. I'll show you to your room, and by the time you've had a wash, if you want to, dinner 'll be ready. I guess you'll be ready for it too."

There was a narrow, uncarpeted passage, with an uncarpeted and still narrower stairway leading steeply up to regions above; also there was a strong—nay, overdeveloped—small of dinner which could be all too easily divided into its component parts—corned beef and cabbage, with perhaps a body-guard of onions.

"One more light for you," explained Jacobus. "They ain't got too much accommodation here, and Miss de Lillie, me and my wife and the other ladies are on this floor, gentlemen above. Here you are," and with a light knock, which was a notification, not a request, he flung the door open.

On a narrow bed visible from the threshold a young man, hardly more than a boy, was stretched reading something that looked like manuscript. He glanced round, but did not move on seeing Mr. Jacobus and a stranger.

"I thought you said this was my room!" exclaimed Loveland, startled.

"So it is, and there's your roommate. Didn't he know whether you'd be in, Ed? I can introduce you to each other right now. Mr. Ed Blinney, our property man, prompter and second villain—Mr. Percival Gordon of England, our new juvenile. Now you know each other, and I guess, Ed, you can put Mr. Gordon up to all he needs to know."

This was worse than the flat hotel, where each man who earned 25 cents could have his own cubicle. But now Loveland was not paying his own way. The "management" was to do that and feed him too. As he had but a quarter in the world, thrust upon him as a loan or gift by generous Ed, Loveland was not in a position to be critical. Here he was, and here he would have to stay till he heard from home or something "turned up."

As for hearing from home, he had begun almost to despair, for his two cables had remained unanswered over these many dreary days. Still, after an interval of more waiting for a telegram from his mother he had written to her and to Betty Harborough, ashamed to take outsiders' into the deepest secrets of his humiliating adventures. But at best it would be a fortnight before Bill Whiting could forward to some address yet to be given a letter from across the sea.

Ed Blinney looked as though he might have pleasant qualities if approached in the right way. So with amazing self-restraint Loveland refrained even from the mild insult of a disgusted glance. He said in his nice

"I thought you said this was my room!"

EXCLAIMED LOVELAND, STARTLED, voice that he hoped Mr. Blinney would not mind his coming, as he really could not help himself, whereupon Mr. Blinney grinned, showing teeth white as a girl's, and replied that it was not Mr. Gordon it would be some one else, who might be worse, as it struck Mr. Blinney that Mr. Gordon would at least be fond of washing himself.

To this Mr. Gordon responded that there were few things he liked better, but it seemed as if there wouldn't be much opportunity at Smith's hotel. You had to do it in sections with a washbasin, said Mr. Blinney, but never mind—you got there just the same if you were in earnest. Then they both laughed, and Blinney exclaimed with evident relief that he was jolly glad Gordon wasn't the sort of boy who put on airs.

Then he bounced off his tremulous cot. He showed his roommate "the ropes"—in other words, which "bureau drawers" were at the newcomer's disposition, where he had better keep his toothbrush and so on. He confided to Loveland the fact that he himself had not been long in the company, but had come from a better one, which he would now regret if the "one night" stands had not been too much for his strength. "If your lungs are always playing you ticks you have to put up with barnstormers, for at least they give you week stands, and most of the hotels throw in free free," he explained. "I can see that you've stepped down in the world a bit, too, so we ought to have a fellow feeling for each other."

While Loveland made himself comfortable for the early dinner Ed Blinney went on to sketch the members of the "company," though in a manner very different from the manager's sarcastic descriptive efforts. He said that Jacobus was a tyrant and a bully, but that he could act; that every one except Miss Moon was afraid of "J. J." and she wouldn't be afraid of an Indian chief on the warpath; that Miss de Lillie didn't dare say her soul was her own or that black was black if old Jack remarked that it wasn't; that Jacobus had done a very good thing for himself in getting hold of Lillie as a star, although she had no money, for she was a peach, a live wire, just the sort of little gal to be a "go" to towns like this. "Folks are wild about her. She's as pretty and as dainty as they make 'em, a whole haystack above what they generally see in these barns," went on Ed. "But she needs managing, and, see, Jack and his wife do manage her. But the old girl's jealous. I don't know how long the show will last, for if she says stop Jack stops, you bet. He's as scared of her as everybody else is of him. She runs the show, and there's two of her sons by her first husband in it. They can't act, and they can't look; but, by gum, they're good to their mother."

Into the midst of his discourse crashed a ferocious dinner bell, and in sheer self-defense they rushed downstairs in the hope of stopping the clamor by their presence.

CHAPTER XIX.

THE STAR.

AL could have laughed aloud as he imagined the old self of a few weeks since—the young and popular officer in the guards self—obeying the beckoning finger of such a man as Jacobus. But he walked toward it like a lamb and was introduced to actors and Mrs. Jacobus (Miss Moon) and Miss de Lillie.

Miss Moon's first sweeping glance at the newcomer was one of self-conscious, important condescension; but, seeing that he was an extremely handsome, well-dressed young man, with an air and an appearance widely different from the tenth rate actors of her acquaintance, past and present, her face and manner changed.

She was a big woman of forty-two or three, with the splendid ruin of what had been a fine figure. Beside Miss Moon, Bill's "little gal" looked like a tiny fishing boat bobbing under the lee of a large schooner, but she was a pretty creature whose curly hair was naturally almost as golden as it glittered; gray-blue eyes which ought to have been mischievous and merry, but were anxious, a clear, rather freckled white skin and the plump nose and innocent smile of a child.

These ladies were not dressed as tidily as their best friends might have wished, but Loveland had grown used to Isadora and did not pick flaws lightly. They were both very cordial to him, somewhat it would have seemed to Mr. Jacobus' contemptuous annoyance, and then, at Miss Moon's suggestion, Ed Blinney introduced Mr. Gordon across and down the length of the table to all the other actors and actresses.

(To be Continued.)

Exceedingly Conscientious.

Mr. Mokeby (the prospective groom)—Now, we'd like to get to know you in your own home, please, if you have no objections.

Parson Black—Sutainly I habn't, Metch Mokeby; what makes you think I might hab?

Mr. Mokeby—I done heard an often dat marriage am a lottery, I thought 'praps you might hab scruples about conductin' dat kind ob gamblin' on your premises.

Your Violets May Have Dyspepsia.

With all its fascinations, violet raising is often attended with many disappointments. Perhaps one reason for amateurs having trouble with unhealthy plants is an over-richness of the soil that is given them, for, unlike some other flowers, violets are apt to have a sort of dyspepsia all their own from over-nourishment.

Varied Interests.

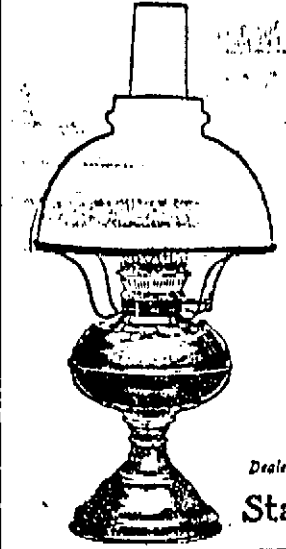

"What we want," said the citizen, "is an era of economy."

"Yes," replied Senator Sorghum; "but there is always bound to be more or less altercation about who shall do the economizing."

The Famous Rayo

Gives the Best Light at Any Price

When you pay more than the Rayo price for a lamp, you are paying for extra decorations that cannot add to the quality of the light. You can't pay for a better light, because there is none. An oil light has the least effect on the human eye, and the Rayo Lamp is the best oil lamp made, though low in price. You can pay $5, $10, or $20 for some other lamp, and although you get a more costly lamp, you can't get a better light than the white, mellow, diffused, unlickering light of the low-priced Rayo.

Has a strong, durable shade-holder. This season's burner adds to the strength and appearance. Made of solid brass, nickel-plated, and easily polished.

The Resurrection, Matt. xxviii:1-20.

Golden Text—10, I am with you all way, even unto the end of the world.

Matt. xxviii:20.

(1) What are the reasons for faith, in the doctrine of the resurrection of Jesus from the dead?

(2) What time of the day, and on what day of the week, did the resurrection occur?

(3) Who first found out concerning the resurrection of Jesus?

(4) Who were "Mary Magdalene and the other Marys?"

(5) Why were these two Marys going to the sepulchre?

(6) What were the extraordinary attending circumstances in connection with the resurrection?

(7) What can be said concerning the angel that rolled back the stone, and gave the women information concerning the resurrection?

(8) If as some say the story of the resurrection is mythical, what effect would that have upon the religion founded by Jesus?

(9) What were the women doing when Jesus met them (verse 9) and how may we be sure of constantly meeting Jesus?

(10) When and where did Jesus say that he would rise from the dead?

(11) Is it still a matter of "great joy" (verse 8) that Jesus rose from the dead, and how may this joy be always realized?

(12) If Jesus had not risen would it have been possible for him, even with his powerful life and unexampled teaching, to have captured the best thought of the world as he has? Give your reasons.

(13) Why is it that the resurrection story, in prose literature, in poetry, in music, in art, and in Christian experience, is so enrapturing?

(14) How did the disciples, at first, take to the story of the resurrection, and how were they finally convinced of its truth?

(15) What is the significance of the fact, that the disciples were finally convinced of the resurrection of Jesus, after they had seen his dead body taken from the cross, and sealed up in the rock hewn tomb, and had settled down to the fact that he was dead, and that his cause was a failure?

(16) Read the Acts of the Apostles again and state how much significance is there given to the resurrection of Jesus?

(17) Is there any possibility that the disciples were deluded men concerning the resurrection? Why?

(18) Why did not Jesus show himself openly to the apostles, and teach openly, after his resurrection? Give chapter and verse. (This question must be answered in writing by members of the club.)

HOW PHAROAH WAS DROWNED

Colored Minister Insisted Egyptians Broke Through Ice After Children of Israel Had Crossed.

There is a story of an old colored minister, which I am fond of telling, that illustrates what I mean. The old fellow was trying to explain to a Sunday school class how it was and why it was that Pharaoh and his party were drowned when they were trying to cross the Red sea, and how it was and why it was that the Children of Israel crossed over dry shod. The old minister explained it in this wise: "When the first party came along it was early in the morning and the ice was hard and thick, and the first party had no trouble crossing over on the ice, but when Pharaoh and his party came along it was '12 o'clock' hot on the ice, and when they got on the ice it broke, and they went in and were drowned."

Now, there happened to be in this class a young colored man who had had considerable schooling, and this young fellow turned to the old minister and said: "Now, Mr. Minister, I do not understand that kind of explanation. I have been going to school and have been studying all these conditions, and my geography teaches me that ice does not freeze within a certain distance of the equator."

The old minister replied: "Now, I've been expecting something just like this. There's always some fellow ready to spile all the theology. The time I've talkin' about was before they had Josophus or 'quators' either."

Now, this old man, in his plain and simple way was trying to brush aside all artificiality and to get down to bed-rock. So it was with me.—Booker T. Washington, in World's Work Magazine.

Hair Health

If you have Scalp or Hair Trouble, Take Advantage of this Offer.

We could not afford to so strongly endorse Rexall "93" Hair Tonic and continue to sell it as we do, if it did not do all we claim it will. Should our enthusiasm carry us away, and Rexall "93" Hair Tonic not give entire satisfaction to the users, they would lose faith in us and our statements and in consequence our business would suffer.

We assure you that if your hair is beginning to unmanfully fall out or if you have any scalp trouble, Rexall "93" Hair Tonic will promptly eradicate dandruff, stimulate hair growth and prevent premature baldness.

Our faith in Rexall "93" Hair Tonic is so strong that we ask you to try it on our positive guarantee that your money will be cheerfully refunded if it does not do as we claim. Two sizes 50c and $1.00. Sold only at our store—The Rexall Store, The Smith Drug Co.

Our

Seeing With Two Eyes Is Better Than Two Hundred Arguments

We Provide the Way to Visit the Wonderful Nueces Valley of Southwest Texas, the Heart of the Great Artesian Belt, To Make a Personal Investigation of

Cross "S" Ranch Irrigated Farms

We can send you down via "The Only Way", The Chicago & Alton, and the Famous Iron Mountain Route.

You will use our own cars without charge, between Chicago and the Ranch. If you don't care to go during the Holidays,

REMEMBER

Our next Excursion will leave Janesville Tuesday Morning, January 3rd, at 7:20, direct to Cross "S" Ranch.

Fare for Round Trip, $31.20, with refund to all who may become interested.

FREDERICK W. MALLEY, AGRICULTURAL EXPERT, HAS BEEN EMPLOYED TO ASSIST CROSS S RANCH FARMERS IN THE SUCCESSFUL GROWING OF CROPS.

We had five well known Rock County men on our last excursion. They became Cross "S" Ranch enthusiasts and bought several hundred acres of our lands. Others secured options on different locations and are taking their families South to make their final selections.

These men have become enthusiastic over our lands.

Do you want their names?

Do you want to talk to them?

Do you want to learn how they have consulted and quizzed?

Northern farmers, who one year ago bought Cross "S" Ranch Farms for $50 per acre, secured their water, raised two crops in one year and then refused the Wisconsin boys and laugh ed at them, when they offered $200 per acre.

Is it worth while to make this trip?

Is it worth while to become interested in land, that in one year will pay for itself?

Do you want to obtain an Irrigated Farm, that in one year you will refuse to sell for four times what it cost you?

Do you want to satisfy yourself personally?

Do you want to use those "two eyes" of yours to make a personal investigation on behalf of yourself and friends?

If you do, "GET BUSY" and make your arrangements for our January Third excursion.

If you want to spend the holidays in the Sunny South, you can make the trip at the same price on December 20th.

We had One Hundred Fifty on our own special train this last trip. Remember, you won't be able to get in on this proposition very long. Don't take our word to satisfy yourself.

"Seeing Is Believing"

Don't invest a dollar of your savings in any proposition until you have seen it.

We are looking for the splendid class of people from good "old Southern Wisconsin," and will be glad to have some of you with us on January 3rd.

You will not be solicited or asked to buy.

You are not under obligations to do so.

It is up to you after you have seen the property.

For $31.20 you will have the trip of your life to the land of Palms, Flowers, and visit beautiful Sunny San Antonio.

The Great Winter Play Ground of the South

You can go and return in less than a week, or your ticket is good for twenty-five days with liberal stopovers.

Professor Malley has studied the soil of Southwest Texas as has probably no other man. His years of employment in the agricultural department of Texas and Ohio has given him a wealth of experience. He has made an exhaustive study of irrigation work and has solved its most difficult problems. He is particularly well informed as to the application of moisture through irrigation in the Cross S Ranch country, because he has spent much time in experiments and investigation. The success of the Cross S Ranch farmer is our success. We own and control 110,000 acres of this virgin soil. We have sold much of this property to actual farmers who are on the ground and doing the work; who are successful, contented and satisfied. We have employed Professor Malley at a salary commensurate with the importance of his work, and he is established on the Cross S Ranch for the purpose of aiding farmers locating there, at no expense to them. The man unused to irrigation—unused to farming of any kind—can, through Professor Malley's assistance, win success in farming on this property. Our irrigated lands are the cheapest in Texas. Our water supply is larger than any other tract in the Southwest. We have about twenty-one artesian wells on the property now and well rigs are busy boring and bringing in new flowing wells.

Transportation Facilities Meet All Demands

Our transportation facilities are unequalled in the Southwest. The Crystal City & Uvalde Railroad divides the property from North to South. The Crystal City & Gardendale Railroad runs through the ranch from Crystal City, east. The Crystal City & Uvalde Railroad connects with the Southern Pacific at Uvalde; the Crystal City & Gardendale Railroad connects with the International & Great Northern at Gardendale, giving Cross S Ranch farmers direct connection for Northern and Eastern markets with two great trunk lines. Sufficient depot sites give ample shipping facilities; fine automobile roads all through the Ranch give easy access to depots from every part of the property.

AN ILLUSTRATED BOOKLET, DEALING IN FACTS, WILL GIVE YOU DETAILED INFORMATION. FREE FOR ASKING—DROP US A POSTAL OR CALL AND GET ONE.
